EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

JAMES G. BLAINE is not a candidate for anything just now, but his name is most frequently before the public.

IN the interest of science let us all hope that the sea serpent has not been swallowed up by any submarine earthquake.

IT is seriously announced that Jeff Davis will write another book. The warning of the earthquake appears to have been lost on this man.

THEY are already disputing over methods of punishing Geronimo. Some are in favor of hanging, while others argue that he ought to be sent to Florida.

THE talk of Ernest Schilling having received $15,000 to part with his wife sounds like bosh. Old Mr. Morosini is not the man to give up $15,000 for a Schilling.

THE President's contribution to the earthquake sufferers will come along presently. He can't get a draft where he is now except by sitting near an open window.

THE David B. Hill boom for president is on exhibition at country fairs in the state of New York. There is a heated contest between it and a new style of windmill.

IT took General Miles more than five months to capture Geronimo, but the job was worth the time. The wily old savage ranks high among our most valuable possessions.

THERE is less hay fever this season than there has been for several years. Times have been so hard that people have had to list it as plain, old-fashioned, every-day catarrh.

"CHAUNCEY F. BLACK should be the idol of every honest man!" exclaims the Centre Hall Reporter. Oh, no! Fred; idolatry was forbidden almost 4,000 years ago, and an honest man, of all men, should shun such a sin.

THE Queen Regent of Spain is going into consumption, of which disease her husband died. The little King has but a poor chance of living, with two such parents. The royal family seems to be as weak and sickly as the whole nation.

"BLAINE'S majority was $81,000 in Pennsylvania,' exclaimed the Watchman. That is a great mistake. Blaine's majority did not consist in dollars at all, but in votes. Republicans dont run their campaigns with dollars. Arguments, reason and votes are all they depend on. If the Democrats gain any victories than it is time to talk about dollars being the means employed to secure them.

THE Democrats of Arkansas swept the State by electing the State ticket by a majority of 20,000, and also elected a majority of the members of the Legislature.—Millheim Journal.

A State that will give such a Democratic majority greatly needs to be "swept." We hope that by the time it receives a few more sweepings its politics will be clean enough to afford the Republicans a fighting chance.

How Opinions Differ.

When the Committee of Ways and Means—that is, the Democratic members of the Committee—examined the Randall bill, entitled "a bill to reduce and equalize the duties on imports"—they reported it back to the House with a negative recommendation, and thus pilloried its author, Hon. Samuel J. Randall: "Unwilling to credit a purpose so lacking in patrotism, so forgetful of the public faith we must believe these and other provisions of the bill the result of fiscal distemper, hindering a just comprehension and intelligent treatment of the subject."

Randall's reduction bill proposes to cut down the duty on iron and steel rails about $4.00 per ton, with a correspond ing reduction of duties upon the metal schedule generally.

After Congressman Randall had carefully studied the tariff reduction bill reported favorably by the Democratic members of the Committee of Ways and Means, he thus put himself upon record relative to it. "The effect would be to close many of our mills. It would inevitably throw out of employment a large number of tailors and sewing women now employed in the large clothing establishments of the country. It might almost be said that it would be a measure of protection to foreign labor and foreign capital."

As the Randall bill proposes to make even a greater reduction in the duties upon iron and steel, than the Morrison bill does upon cotton and woolen goods, they should be designated as "bills to destroy American industries, and to reduce the wages of American workmen to the European standard."

Our object in calling attention to these two free trade bills now before Congress is for the purpose of asking our gifted townsman, Hon. Chauncey F. Black,

First. Do these tariff bills, now pending before Congress, and which will be acted upon when the House re-assembles in December, meet your approval?

Second. If they do, will you advocate their passage in the speeches you make to the people of Pennsylvania; and if they do not, will your voice be raised against them, in the interest of the workingmen and manufacturers of your native State?

The pending question before the American voter is, Shall these bills, reducing the duty fully twenty per cent. upon cotton and woolen manufactures, and upon iron and steel, pass the House in December next? Mr. Black must answer yea or nay. Which shall it be?

And you, Mr. Candidates for Congress, who may be called to vote on one or the other of these measures, how do you stand? Will you answer, which shall it be?—York Dispatch.

The Real Question.

We have not taken very much stock in the question regarding the issue of orders by the Watchman. But we do not hesitate to affirm that the Watchman asserts some audacious and unmitigated falsehoods, and we intend to hold it right down to the square question, without following it off on to any side track. In the course of one of its recent ingenious editorials, it says:

The difference in the treatment of the employes of the Watchman office and those of General Beaver's nail works, is, that the former are paid in cash, weekly, thus giving them the use of their wages in money as soon as earned; while the latter are paid in store orders, or trade coupons—upon which the company have a profit of from 20 to 80 per cent—and their accounts squared once a month.

In this statement the Watchman asserts that the nail works employes are paid in coupons. This is a statement which the Watchman cannot substantiate, and knows to be an untruth. They are paid in cash, in full, once each month—a condition of things which the employes value highly. When, however, the nail works company desires to make an advance of the necessaries of life, for wages not yet earned, it does not, as does the Watchman, give an order, but gives a coupon, with which the man can obtain, at the store, many conveniences. It thus becomes in reality an institution partaking more of the nature of a benefit than anything else. We do not believe that the editor of the Watchman can find an employe of the nail works who has ever been forced or asked to take a coupon in payment for wages. We would be pleased to have the Watchman name such an one if it can. We are satisfied that it cannot, and we advise it to keep quiet. Every one of its allegations has been controverted, except the spurious one regarding its orders for wages due. That has nothing to do with the question.

Advice to Voters.

We are perfectly willing to accept the conditions prescribed by the Centre Democrat, that the choice for the voters of this county is not one between Beaver and Black, but between the Democratic and Republican parties. We must say that a critical inquiry into the past and present and an augury as to the future of the two parties, will lead any sensible man to vote with the Republican party. There is as much difference between them as there is between light and darkness, good and evil, and the modern popular belief that there is but slight choice between the two great parties is not founded upon the real facts.

When you are certain that your party is all right, it is more pleasant to know that its candidates are also such men as you can implicitly trust. As we look again at the list of gentlemen selected a few days ago as candidates for the county offices our admiration for them is increased, and we wonder that the convention could have made such a happy choice, for we don't know of an equal number of men in the county who are their superiors.

It is well to be represented in the legislature by men who are scholarly, business-like, conscientious and honest. We believe that each one of the candidates can claim each of these virtues as his own. To them are added numerous bright accomplishments, which, while not absolutely necessary, nevertheless aid to equip and make useful the legislator. For instance, Mr. Love is one of the most brilliant orators in Centre county, and is oftener selected than any other gentleman in the county when this showy accomplishment is in demand. Oratory adds greatly to the influence of a member of the assembly. Mr. G. G. Mattern has about him many indescribably fascinating qualities which also make him very influential, and who knows but that in time he, too, may cultivate the gift of oratory? Business, however, is his forte and he will make a most excellent working member of the legislature

The same qualities of popularity which we have ascribed to Mr. Mattern also belong to Mr. Boal, who is to be the next prothonotary. Added to this, is a personal acquaintance with almost every one, which contributes to his strength.

G. H. Lichenthaler is one of the brightest lawyers in this county. He will make a very able and careful prosecuting attorney.

Jesse Cleaver, the candidate for surveyor, comes of a good old family of Friends and he is an adherent of that faith. His home is in Unionville, where he lives and is an honored citizen. Mr. Cleaver occasionally visits Bellefonte and other portions of the county in pursuit of his profession. To elect him would be only to elect a gentleman who is exceptionally able and worthy.

Therefore, our advice is to vote for these men for the separate offices. You will never have better men to vote for.

Where is Victoria?

It is not the Queen of England who is lost. When the last cablegram was received from Balmoral the Empress of India was all right. Everybody knows just where she is and where to find her. The Victoria who has been agitating this part of the world for two years past is sort of an Americo-Italian. Her papa is from Italy's sunny isle and he has made his money in this country. His daughter, Victoria, about two years ago, married her father's coachman, a young man named Schilling, and ever since then rich young ladies have given up the habit of marrying editors and have wedded coachmen just as rapidly as the coachmen would permit. This almost induced us to give up the art preservative to take charge of the fine horses of some rich men who has a marriageable daughter.

Well, most of our readers are aware that Mrs. Victoria Schilling, nee Morosini, has supported herself ever since she wedded her coachman husband until she suddenly took French leave and her present whereabouts seem to be uncertain. Now she is reported to be in a half dozen places at the same time, which, as all know, is a physical impossibility. One wise person is certain she has been taken to Canada and placed in a convent, another is equally sure that she has eloped with a 'nice young man' who once paid her some attention, while still others say that she sailed to Europe under the passenger name "Mrs. Simmons." Why all this fuss and feather about this very ordinary female? It is extremely probable that she has become reconciled to her irate father and is at his home. But it seems to us that too much ado has been made over these not very refined Italians, and they seem always to evince a desire to continue posing before an open-mouth public.

A Stubborn President.

When the chief citizen of any country is not blessed with an average share of intellectual power, and, at the same time is stubborn, that country is sometimes apt to get into an awkward position. Cleveland, the fishing, vacation President of the United States, now threatens to place this country in a position of much embarrassment. He cannot see that common courtesy and decency requires that representatives of the French Nation be invited to participate with the people of this country in the dedication of the Bartholdi statue of Liberty enlightening the world, and refuses to send an invitation on the plea that he cannot find any warrant or authority for such invitation, despite the fact that Congress has passed a resolution delegating the authority to him.

He should know, too, that when the laws of the land cannot provide for every conceivable circumstance, equity must step in. In instances such as this Mr. Cleveland's ideas of propriety must dictate the proper thing for him to do. Congress not being in session, he as the chief citizen, must do the honors of the occasion. An invitation from any member of the cabinet, or from the chairman of the committee on foreign affairs would not be accepted by the French Nation in the same spirit as it would from the President. The time for the dedication is near; will the President please stop fishing long enough to see that Dan Lamont writes this invitation.

The Result in Maine.

The first day's estimate of the result of the elections on Monday in Maine indicates a great triumph for the Republicans. The plurality for the Republican State ticket is larger than it has been before for fifteen years except when the people were voting for President. The estimated plurality, we have said, is 14,000 but later returns from the distant districts are likely to increase this, as they usually do, and the final figures may be nearer 20,000.

It is a subject of congratulation that the people of that State are willing to intrust the prohibition part of the state's government to the Republican party. This is rendered absolutely certain by a decreased vote for the candidates of what is known as the separate Prohibition party. This, too, in the face of the fact that the Prohibitionists carried on a very active canvass.

It was a mistake to infer that because the Democrats did not have meetings and parades that there was apathy among them. They showed up about as well as usual, making the aggregate vote very large. Although the conditions are different the result was approximately the same.

THE is a plan on foot contemplating the expenditure of $1,000,000 in the erection of four blast furnaces and a Bessemer steel works at the town of Newsburg, six miles from Birmingham, Alabama. The Birmingham district, within a radius of ten miles, will be crowded twenty large hot blast coke furnaces, seven of which are now in blast, three repairing and twelve in process of erection. Besides, it is reported that the Pratt Company will make a steel experiment with $2,000,000 capital at the new town of Bessemer City, ten miles south of Birmingham.

CONGILDER having taken a hand organ with him on his little jaunt to the North Pole, the question arises, what tunes are barreled up in it? The sight of an American excursionist sitting on top of the pole and grinding. "Yan Doodle" from a barrel organ would be one worthy to be taken by some of our enterprising amateur photographers.

AT the way this world is divided is that Russia rules about everything in Europe, Asia and Africa, while the United States exerts the same influence in every part of the globe.

CANADA is threatening to annihilate the United States merely because a Canadian boat was captured by a cruiser belonging to this country, while sailing near Alaska.

Have You Heard from Maine?

The faith of the Republicans in the principles of their party has again been vindicated. The election in Maine has resulted in a Republican triumph, thanks to this faith and to the good work of Mr. Blaine and the other leaders who have labored so assiduously during the canvass of the last few weeks. The victory, indeed, is bigger than had been anticipated. Mr. Bodwell, the Republican candidate for Governor, will have a plurality of from 12,000 to 14,000; the four Republican Congressmen have been re-elected; the Legislature is largely Republican, thus insuring the election of a Republican Senator; all the counties are Republican with two possible exceptions; the Prohibition vote will probably not exceed 3,500; and while the total Republican vote is smaller than in 1884, the party has increased its pluralities in many parts of the State.

This is the result dispite the united efforts of the Democrats, the third-party Prohibitionists and the self-styled leaders of the workingmen. Furious assaults on the tariff, outrageous lies about the temperance record of the Republican party and the personal character of its legislators and prominent men were the leading cards of our opponents. The opposition, too, was backed up by all the influence of the fanatical temperance organs and the Mugwump press. But the voters of Maine were not to be thus misled. Few of them were deceived by the pretence that better prohibitory legislation was needed than the Republican party would give; and fewer still had any disposition to send Free Traders to Congress. Then, too, the sturdy fishery interests were disgusted with the ridiculous and pusillanimous attitude of the Administration in regard to the fisheries question. And finally, added to all these things, were the personal influence of Mr. Blaine, his eloquent and logical speeches, and the able addresses of the other leaders who accompanied him. Is it any wonder that the State sustained the Republican cause?

Now watch the wriggling and the squirming of the third party organs and leaders whose sole object in life is to "smash the Republican party."

ENVOY SEDGWICK denies the reports of his spree, while Consul General Porch says he behaved himself in a disgraceful manner. One or the other of Bayard's hired men is not telling the truth, and the State Department should take measures to ascertain which it is. Speaking of Colonel Porch, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says that "he did not have the reputation in Missouri of concocting sensations in the interest of temperance and morality."

CAREFUL estimates now place the aggregate loss at Charleston by the earthquake and fire at twenty-six millions of dollars. While the authorities are doing all in their power to relieve the sufferings of the people, they are hampered for want of means. The proper authorities should hurry forward the subscriptions obtained, and people who are able and willing to give should not wait to be called upon, but come up and put their names down for all they can spare.

THE Democrats are so accustomed to be on the defensive that they have assumed that position this year without any cause for doing so. The Watchman uses more than a column of space to prove that Mr. Black, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, is a pure man. We never heard the assertion that he is an impure man. Indeed, all the candidates on all the tickets are pure men. Will the Watchman please explain itself?

ASSISTANT TREASURER BISHOP on Thursday shipped $5,000 in one cent pieces from the Baltimore sub-treasury to the United States mint at Philadelphia, making $15,000 in cents that he has sent there the present month. The coins will be cleansed and reburnished at the mint and distributed to the several sub-treasuries.

A CAR loaded with whisky jumped the track in the Wabash yard at Lafayette, Ind., on Tuesday, delaying the east bound passenger train 40 minutes. The Courier says there was no apparent cause for the freak, and the only theory that can be advanced is the ardent desire the whisky had to locate in that city.

SATURDAY, October 2d, is the last day for the payment of state or county tax in order to secure the legal right to vote at the November election.

A Belleville, N. J., man sent $2.50 to a man in Ohio who advertised to send free of cost the most popular fruit juice extractor in the world. The extractor came by mail, and is as good a lemon squeezer as can be got anywhere for 30 cents.

White huckleberries were offered for sale in Norwich lately by a farmer of that vicinity. They are said to grow in only two places in Connecticut, a round hillock in a big swamp in Salem, and a similar place at Spring Hill in Windham Co.

Indiana's Gretna Green is not less prolific than the one mentioned in English history, as the following local item would indicate: "Squire Keigwin, off Jefferville, has during his official career pronounced the ceremony for nearly 1,600 couples."

A big black cat and a big black bat battled for three hours in the Kansas City postoffice before the cat succeeded in killing the bat. The bat's tactics were to get on the cat's back, and the cat's were to run under a desk and scrape off the bat and then renew the attack.

A controvery has been pending for some time between the United States of Columbia and Costa Rica, touching the boundary line between those two countries. A commission has been formed to settle the points in dispute, and the Government of Spain has been selected by Columbia and Costa to act as umpire.

An old woman, 80 years of age, applied recently to the Mayor of Zanesville, O., for aid to assist her on her way to Dayton. She had started from the northern part of Maine about a month before, with a very small sum of money. By the aid of a generous public she has traveled most of the way by rail, but was compelled at different times to walk.

Poetry.

WHAT RULES THE WORLD.

They say that man is mighty,
He governs land and sea,
He wields a mighty scepter
O'er lesser powers that be;
But a mightier power, and stronger,
Man's heart has throned and hurled,
For the hand that rocks the cradle,
Is the hand that rules the world."

In deep mysterious conclave,
Man's full mephistic minds,
Unraveling knotty problems,
His native sphere may finds;
Yet all his wiles and claims
To heav'n's four winds are hurled,
For the hand that rocks the cradle,
Is the hand that rules the world."

Behold the brave commander,
Launch'd 'mid the carnage stand,
Behold the golden flying,
With the colors in his hand
Brave man they be but craven
When his banner is unfurled;
"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

Great statesmen govern Nations,
Kings mould a people's fate,
But the unseen hand of velvet
The strong arm of fortune
With woman's charms is purled,
"For the hand that rocks the cradle,
Is the hand that rules the world."

TO A MUSQUITO.

Of all humbug accursed,
Musquito, you're the worst;
You poise on me—I'd like to poison you,
All summer (slap) you come
And make your circuit "to hum"
As (slap) my blood relations do.

I've bills enough set in
Without yours, fiend of sin;
To scratch to (slap) of course I missed my aim).
I'm bored to others too,
But when I'm bored by you
I'm overboard. (slap) Wish you the same.

All day and night you sing:
"O Death! where is thy sting,"
Till in cold blood I could kill you, O!
Miss Quito, you must be
Completely humbled on me,
And (slap) you say, You ain't, for there you go.

Well, when the cold waves hum,
You won't and you'll succumb
When Jack Frost nips your nose than you nip me.
But, then old fiend, you may
Freeze to me any day,
And you'll be "wanted" (slap) you ought to be.

THE PIPER.

The dew was on the sedges,
The mist was on the mead,
When down among the sedges
I wrought my pipe of reed.
I blew my pipe with power,
Men only cursed the sound
That woke them with the hour
Brought back the labor's round.

The scythes were in the barley,
The sickle in the heat,
The pipe I made so early
Had out its tones so sweet.
And weary man and maiden
Upon the glowing soil,
My reed-pipe felt unloading
That lightened all their toil.

The men had set their mowing,
The maids to bind their sheaves;
I took me to my blowing
A wheat straw stripped of leaves;
And cares all ceased to cumber,
No voice was now upraised;
I piped them all to slumber,
And in their dreams was praised.

A SONG OF REST.

O weary Hands! that all the day,
Were set to labor hard and long,
Now softly fall the shadows gray,
The bells are rung for even song.
An hour ago the golden sun
Sank slowly down into the west
Poor, weary Hands, your toil is done;
'Tis time for rest!—'tis time for rest!

O weary Feet! that many a mile
Have trudged along a stony way,
At last ye reach the trysting stile;
No longer fear to go astray.
The gently blending, rustling trees
Rock the young birds within the nest,
And softly sings the quiet breeze:
"'Tis time for rest!—'tis time for rest!"

O weary Eyes! from which the tears
Fell many a time like thunder rain—
O weary Heart! that through the years
Beat with such bitter, restless pain,
To-night forget the stormy strife,
And know what Heaven shall send is best;
Lay down the tangled web of life;
'Tis time for rest!—'tis time for rest!

Our Story Teller.

A CONSCIENCE STILL.

"So George Burton's had a bit of good luck," said Martin Hale, as he hung his hat and coat behind the door and drew up to the fire. "We heard of it up at the foundry. Fifty pounds from that old aunt of his who died last week. Well, it'll help him to pay off his scores and get a fair start."

"Scores, indeed," said Mrs. Hale, who with her daughter Maggie, was busied about the supper. "Why, the first thing Mrs. Burton did was to go and buy a baby carriage. Probably she'll want one for herself next," she added with a laugh. "Think of her setting up with a baby carriage."

"The baby's sickly, mother," said Maggie, "and too big for little Nellie to carry in her arms. I have often heard Mrs. Burton wishing for a carriage in which the baby could be drawn about comfortably."

"They're as delighted as if the fifty pounds were a thousand," continued her mother. "It isn't much to be proud of—fifty pounds."

"Well, I only wish I had half as much," said Martin with a sigh. "We are owing two months' rent now, and what I made down at the furnaces won't go very far, to say nothing of the chandler's score. I think George is in good luck."

They had always been good neighbors, the Hales and Burtons. The two men worked at the iron mills in the town, and were known as steady honest fellows; but it often happened that work was slack, or even at a standstill, and then those who were turned off had to be idle or look for a "job" at the furnaces, some thirty miles up the railroad.

Both Hale and Burton had just returned from one of these expeditions—the latter to claim the "good luck" that had befallen him," and the former to repine that no such luck ever came to himself.

About a week after this, Martin Hale, on his way home from work, overtook George Burton, who had paused outside the window of one of those "variety shops," where anything is sold, from a box of matches to a suit of clothes, or set of cheap jewelry.

He was gazing at a girl's jacket of dark cloth, neatly trimmed.

"Thinking of buying your wife a diamond ring, George?" said Martin, stopping beside him.

"Not yet a while," he replied good-humoredly. "I was looking at that little affair"—nodding towards the jacket—"and thinking I would like to buy it for Kitty, if it isn't too dear. I know she needs something warm for winter, and to-morrow's her birthday."

"Suppose you go in and ask the price?"

The two stepped into the shop. The women who helped to keep it were eloquent in setting forth the merits of the garment, and its wonderful cheapness.

When Burton hesitated at sixteen shillings she brought down the price to twelve, and he pulled out a leather purse and paid the money.

"You're spending your fortune pretty freely, George," remarked Hale, as his companion closed his purse.

"Well, yes, in this instance; but you see Kitty's seventeen to-morrow, and girls like to be nicely dressed. Besides, I've cleared off my little debts, and this ten pounds that's left goes into the bank to-morrow."

The woman, anxious to get as much as possible out of her customer, produced some woollen socks, and Burton, in examining them, laid his purse on the counter, where it was speedily covered by the goods.

Concluding not to purchase the socks, he took up the bundle containing the jacket, and with never a thought of his money, left the shop.

Martin Hale took the purse from under the goods, unseen by the woman, who had turned to replace the things on the shelf.

"I will give him a litle scare," he thought. "The lesson won't hurt him."

When Burton reached his own door and paused to wish his companion good-night, the latter raised his hand to his breast-pocket. But suddenly a dark thought whispered to him. Burton had not missed the money; Burton would never suspect him. And while he hesitated, his companion had gone into the house and closed the door.

"I'll give it to him to-morrow—yes, certainly to-morrow," said Martin to himself, "and explain that it was a joke. He will find that none of the money is missing."

But next morning, when alone, he opened the purse, just to see that the money was there all safe.

He counted it out—exactly £10. With that amount he could clear off his score, and pay his month's rent; and it so happened that just at this time Martin Hale was more in need of money than ever he had been in his life. He had made but little the past summer, and winter was coming with its manifold needs.

That day the workmen were all talking about George Burton's loss. He must have placed his purse, containing the money, in his coat pocket, he said, for upon reaching home he had found it gone, and a hole at the bottom of his pocket.

He was so absent-minded at times, and he remembered that he had forgotten to tell his wife of that torn pocket. He offered a reward to the finder, but no one came to claim it.

This seemed a turning-point to Geo. Burton's "good luck." Next day his children were taken with the measles, and a doctor had to be called in. One little domestic trouble after another came upon him, and at last he received his dismissal from the iron works, where there were, the proprietor exclaimed, more workmen employed than were necessary.

The same fate befell Martin Hale, and as he walked gloomily homeward he thought of the ten pounds lying in the secret place where he had hidden it. Never once again had he looked at it, and not a day had passed that he had not shrunk from the thought of it and from the sense of his own guilt; and yet, by a strange inconsistency, he could not bring himself to part with the money.

A haunting dread of poverty and want tempted him to keep it, and people who noticed that he was changed, that he had become nervous and morose, attributed it to his poverty.

George Burton wondered that his old neighbor shunned him, and Martin's wife grew anxious and harassed in witnessing her husband's changed temper—he who had hitherto been always kind and considerate to her and the children.

One evening Martin took the purse from its hiding-place and opened it.

There were a few pieces of small change, and these he slipped in his vest pocket and started down the street.

He was not accustomed to drinking anything stronger than beer, but now he thought, to drown his bad feelings, he would take a glass of spirits.

Walking briskly down the street, one of the small coins, slipping from his vest-pocket, fell upon the pavement. He did not notice it, but a little boy behind him did.

The coin rolled into the gutter, and it was a moment or two before the child could find it. Then he ran after the man who had dropped it, and, after a good chase, came up with him as he was about entering a public-house.

"Oh, Mr. Hale, is it you?" he exclaimed breathlessly. "I've chased you ever so long."

Martin looked down and saw a pale little face, and a form thinly clad for such a cold evening.

A pang shot through him. It was Eddie, George Burton's little son.

"What do you want?" he said gruffly.

"The—the money," he gasped.

Martin turned white.

"What money?"

The boy held up the coin.

"I saw it fall. It must have slipped out of your torn pocket, like my father's did."

"Why didn't you keep it, sonny?" asked a man who stood by.

"Because it wasn't mine," answered Eddie stoutly. "'Twould have been stealing."

Martin took the piece mechanically, and shrank away from the boy's gaze. This child had honestly returned to him the money which he, Martin Hale, had stolen from the boy's father.

Martin walked on with downcast eyes and pale, compressed lips until he reached his own door.

Over the way a dim light burned in George Burton's window, and, crossing the street, he knocked on the door, and called to George Burton.

Burton came out, looking a little surprised.

"George, you lost a purse and ten pounds some time ago?" said Martin abruptly.

"Yes."

"Here it is. I am the meanest and most dispicable wretch alive; but I've a conscience still, thank Heaven!"

And then he told how he had got possession of the money, how he had kept it, and it had been through the honesty of Burton's little son that he had come to restore it.

"You'll never speak to me again, I suppose," he added huskily, "and I own that I don't deserve that you should. But the burden is off my soul now, and, with God's help, I will be an honest man hereafter."

Burton held out his hand.

"We will be friends still, Martin," he said, "I will be no man's judge; for none of us can know but that we, too, might fall if tempted."

And then Martin Hale folded his arms on the top of the low fence, and bowing his face upon them, shed the first tears he had known for years.

Before he left, Burton said to him:

"I was just going over to your house with good news. I was at the furnaces yesterday looking for work, and Mr. Boetiwick offered me a good permanent situation which will require an assistant. I spoke for you, and he agreed to take you. So there are better days in store for us, and I don't fear Martin"—laying his hands on his shoulder—"but that we'll both try to do our duty in future."

Restored to Life.

Charlevoix (Mich.) Cor. Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Arza Campbell is one of the best-known citizens of the Charlevoix town and county. For years he was engaged in active business here, and acquired a competency. About twelve months since Mr. Campbell was stricken with paralysis and has suffered excruciatingly most of the time. Two weeks ago his malady developed more alarming symptoms and his family was in constant attendance upon him. Friday he died. There is no question as to this. He died, and his physician, one of the most regular of regular practioners, admitted the fact. Mrs. Campbell, as a dernier resort, sent out for Mrs. Sweatland, a metaphysical "curer," temporarily located in this city, and that lady promptly responded to the call. However, when she reached the house decomposition had already set in, possibly growing out of the nature and complexity of the disease from which Mr. Campbell had suffered, and the stench emitted from the body was fearful.

Mrs. Sweatland, who is an intelligent sad-eyed lady, ordered disinfectants to be liberally applied to the rooms, and she placed herself beside the corpse. For twenty minutes she gently rubbed the body, muttering prayers or incantations meanwhile, and then the dead man's eyes opened. He tried to speak but was unable. The rubbing process was continued twenty minutes longer, at the end of which time the corpse sat upright, and in three hours he was eating with his family. Mr. Campbell is now enjoying greater freedom from pain than at any time since his first illness, and his physician, who admitted that he was dead, expresses himself as nonplussed. Mr. Campbell is unable to express his feelings while in a state of death. He says he left the earth but it is impossible to say or describe the place to which he journeyed.

A Wonderful Watch.

Baltimore American.

A tall, thin man, with a cast in his eye, boarded a Blue Line car going east on Baltimore street recently. He looked like a person who could not be surprised if the world would suddenly come to an end and leave him alone in the universe. The seats of the car was full, but nobody was standing. Most of the passengers were ladies. The tall, thin man pulled out his Waterbury watch and compared it with the big chronometer near Light street. The two timepieces did not agree. The tall man proceeded to open his watch at the rear. He pried open the outer case and on the inner case he saw the ominous inscription:

"Don't remove the cap unless you are a practical watch-repairer."

This did not scare the thin man a bit. He got out his penknife and pried the case off with the little blade.

Great Cæsar! what a revelation there was in that cap!

The moment the cap came off a steel spring about forty yards long popped out and uncoiled itself up to the ceiling of the car. It was like the devil coming out of his band-box. After touching the roof the spring recoiled and then uncoiled, and then became wound up in a most horribly confused way. It would dart out like a serpent's tongue all over the car, around the car, around the necks of the passengers, up their trouser legs, under the seat, out the front door and around the driver's stool. Then it would curl about the thin man and run out of every window on that side of the car. The female passengers shrieked and perspiration gathered in great beads on the tall man's alabaster brow.

He tried to throw the watch out of the window, but it would not go. The spring dragged it back and it flew straight into the conductor's face, and in his excitement he trod on a fat passenger's pet corn, and the fat man howled as though his liver had struck for shorter hours and higher wages.

The conductor tried to toss the demonical watch through the door, but it returned and went whistling through the car like one of Kilroy's hot balls, and hit the door so violently that it left the exact time of day indelibly stamped on the panel.

Finally the tall man, with the assistance of the conductor and several of the passengers, succeeded in gathering together what appeared to be ten bushels of wire springs, and the car stopped and they gently carried it out into the street and said: "Now, then, all together," and dropped it and ran for their lives.

When the thin man looked at his Waterbary watch after the excitement had subsided he found that there was absolutely nothing in it—not even a wheel or a pivot. The spring had been running the watch entirely and exclusively on its own responsibility, and when it fled nothing but the case remained to tell the mournful story.

Previous Quakes.

Tuesday night's earthquake has aroused general interest in the subject of previous similar events in this country, which the following will probably satisfy.

The most recent earthquakes felt in the United States previous to Tuesday evening were those of last week, Friday and Saturday mornings, the former being felt only at Charleston, S. C., and the immediate neighborhood, and the latter, somewhat more severe, extending into North Carolina. These occurred within 24 hours of much heavier shocks along the shores of the Eastern Mediterranean.

At midnight on June 11, 1886, a strange tremor was felt at Sandy Hook and Coney Island, at first believed to be due to an earthquake, but afterward vaguely attributed to the firing of guns on shipboards off shore. No shock was felt elsewhere in the United States but in the West Indies a pronounced shock was felt on the island of Antigua the day before, at which time earthquakes occurred in Poictiers, France, and a terribly destructive volcanic outbreak was experienced in New Zealand.

On January 26, 1882, a severe shock of earthquake was experienced at Centreville, Cal., preceeded by a heavy shower of rain.

On February 14, 1882, a shock of five minutes' duration was felt at Lake City, Col. The shock was also violently felt at Capitol City, in the same State.

On December 19, 1882, two slight but distinctly perceptible shocks of earthquake, lasting 10 seconds, were felt at Dover, N. H., accompanied by a rumbling noise. They were also felt in Rollinsford, Bochester, Contoocook, Concord, and other towns in that State. The shocks traveled from east to west.

On January 21, 1881, an earthquake lasting about 10 seconds was felt at Bath, Me., and throughout the neighboring country. At first there was a loud report, followed by a rumbling noise, as of a heavy team passing over the frozen ground. Windows rattled and distinct oscillations were felt.

On November 18, 1878, shocks were felt in the Mississippi valley over an area of fully 150,000 square miles. The region of greatest disturbance was along the Mississippi from Cairo to Memphis, and along the Missouri from Glasgow to Lexington.

On September 27, 1872, a slight shock was felt in St. Louis. A rolling noise was followed by 12 distinct vibrations at intervals of a second. The first vibration was the most violent. The shock lasted about 16 seconds. Springfield and Centralia, Ill., experienced the same shock.

Lack of Tact.

The proverb, "Some people's fingers are all thumbs," describes those who lack that delicate moral touch which is called tact. The word comes from a Latin word meaning to touch, and denotes the power of quickly perceiving and readily doing what is required by circumstances. It is prompted by the desire to be kind in a kindly way. It makes people comfortable by humoring them, so that they feel at their ease and are inclined to put their best side uppermost.

The most irritating thorns in social life are the "Joe Blunts," who blurt out offensive remarks with the apologetic clause: "You know I always say what I think—there's no deceit about me."

Solomon sent the sluggard to the ant to learn industry. We would send the "Blunts" to a well-bred cat to learn the unobtrusive tact which behaves itself in company. A cat who wishes to take her ease will do it so quietly and gracefully that not a guest in the well-filled parlor will be disturbed.

A recent writer, in giving several illustrations of the lack of tact, tells of a lady, who, being a guest, enforced her refusal to take broiled ham by the remark: "I don't think pork is fit food for any human stomach."

Another lady, being at a dinner party, where the conversation turned upon the authorship of Shakespeare's plays, said, with a brusqueness which compelled silence: "I think the advocates of the theory that some other person than Shaespeare wrote the plays attributed to him, simply betray their ignorance and shallowness." As two of the best-educated persons present believed that some one else than Shakespeare wrote the plays, the lady's blunt assertion roused their antagonism, and the comfort of the guests was disturbed.

"Are you the wife of old Mr. C——?" asked a lady, on being introduced to another lady, who had married a man much older than herself. The blunt question embarrassed both the wife and the company. Yet the lady guilty of this social blunder was the principal of a high school.

"What Mrs. B. has just said is not true," remarked Mrs. A., at a literary society, as a lady made a statement. The members were indignant at the assertion, and listened with aversion as Mrs. A. proceeded to show that Mrs. B. was mistaken owing to misinformation. Yet Mrs. A., who is a woman of culture, complains that she has few friends, and can not be made to see that her lack of tact and her blunt way of putting things separate her from those whose feelings she wounds.

A young lady who is anxious to gain social success must acquire the art of touching people gently. A good salesman is compelled by his business to acquire tact. He prides himself on his ability to handle carefully the most perverse of buyers.

The best rule for acting tact is: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them."—Youth's Companion.

The First Rat in America.

It is but little over a century ago—1775—that the first brown rat (the ordinary house rat) made his appearance in America. He came as a stowaway on shipboard, either from India or Persia, or possibly from some Mediterranean port. Rats were unknown in Europe until the middle of the eighteenth century. In every town, village and hamlet in the United States now the rat is almost as well known as the dog or the cat, and the rodent population must be far larger than either of the others. So rapid is the increase of the species that a single pair, if unmolested for a year, will have an offspring of hundreds in that time. In dwellings and city sewers the house rat is the ruler, and his black brother is driven to the wall. In the fields and along the marshes bordering the sea coast the muskrat and the cotton rat hold sway. Rats of many species are now to be found wherever human habitation exists. It is easier to render a building fireproof than ratproof.

It is already predicted that the coming winter will be unusually mild and open. Even the truth should not be spoken at all times. It is not yet too late to have the retail price of ice advanced.

The Veterans' Picnic.

Among the many other attractions in the future, do not forget the picnic of the Centre county Veterans' Club, to be held at Lemont on Saturday, the 18th inst. Those who have attended these gatherings in the past (and that includes everybody) are well aware that they are among the most enjoyable that occur in the county. It is desired to have the picnic this year up to standard in interest and enjoyment. The grove at Lemont is a fine one and no better way of spending the day can be planned than to go there with the veterans, taking your dinner along and eating it in the shade of some fine tree.

It is said that Major Armor, who was at the picnic last year, will be present on this occasion. He was unusually active and efficient in raising soldiers to take part in the late conflict, and we know of none, more happy than he in relating incidents of the war.

—We have just received from Lee & Walker, music publishers, Philadelphia, a choice collection of their newest and best music—vocal and instrumental. The "Marie Gavotte," "Love's Young Dream," "Metropolitan Waltz," "Heart's Desires," "Clio Waltzes," "Over the Plains," and others, all instrumental music of the very best and latest. Anyone desiring new and good music would find it to their advantage to address Lee & Walker, 1113 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

—While Mr. Al. Garman was in Williamsport he had first-class fishing sport in Pine Creek and sent home some very fine specimens of bass which he captured from that stream. He found that not only were the fish abundant, but that squirrels and other game in the woods were unusually numerous, although he was not after the latter and he left the squirrels for game for some future hunter. It is also said that Al. did some checker playing while in Williamsport and that the numerous so-called champion checker-players made themselves scarce when he was present.

—The handsome and imposing structure, the new Roman Catholic church edifice on Bishop street, is mounting up to a very great height and will go about fifteen feet higher befare it is ready for the roof. This stage of advancement, it is expected, will be reached before Winter begins. With what a sure and steady progress the building moves onward to completion! The work done upon it is of the very best kind, and when completion is reached it will far excel every other church building in town in its beauty and grandeur.

—It has been noticed that the recent earthquake was much worse on Democrats than on Republicans. In the North, when it was felt at all, it was generally by Democrats. IT IS A FACT—That no matter how severe or long you have suffered, you can get relief, and weather more, get it permanently—"for keeps," as the Irishman tersely put it.

IT IS A FACT—That thousands have had this glad experience, and now rejoice in perfect health. We can show you the testimonials of many such.

IT IS A FACT—That the

does the business and has done it successfully every time it has been tried according to directions.

IT IS A FACT—That this remedy, though comparatively new in our country, has been used very many years in some parts of Europe, and with wonderful success.

IT IS A FACT—That the Russian Rheumatism Cure has the endorsement of eminent European physicians and Government sanitary commissions, without which it could not be publicly sold in some of those countries.

IT IS A FACT—That HENRY M. FLINT of Frank Bros. & Co. 311 N. 2d St. Philadelphia, suffered for years with Rheumatism in the arms and shoulders. He says: "I tried everything, but nothing helped until I bought the R. R. Cure. It cured me completely and very quickly."

SECOND TO NONE IN CROP VALUE.

This is not a new thing, but it is an established fact warranted by years of severest field tests in competition with the highest-priced goods offered in the American market. A bold assertion, isn't it? Farmers say it is true, and they know.

COATESVILLE, PA., FEB. 4th, 1886.

"Replying to your inquiry in regard to Baugh's $25 Phosphate, would say: I have used it myself and seen it used alongside of higher-priced phosphates, with just as good and lasting results. I have always heard it spoken of, by parties who have tried it thoroughly, as one of the best in the market, regardless of price, and would recommend all farmers to use it. I consider it greatly superior to Acidulated Rock, as it not only gives quick returns but improves the soil."

A Town Almost Destroyed by Fire.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The most disastrous fire that has ever visited Freehold, N. J., broke out at a little after 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Before it was checked it had consumed a whole neighborhood and the losses had reached not less than $200,000. The principal buildings destroyed were the large wholesale store of D. C. Perrine, fronting on Maine street and running through to South street; the old hotel known as the Union Hotel, occupied by John Taylor; the five stores of David Patterson, and several small stores. The fire is generally supposed to have been started by the upsetting of a lighted candle in Perrine's store. The candle was in the hands of a boy who was drawing kerosene. Mr. Perrine, however, stoutly denies this story. He declares that the fire started some distance from the place where the kerosene was stored.

The alarm was promptly given, and within ten minutes the fire department was on the scene. But the flames had spread so rapidly that it was even now plain that the Perrine building was beyond saving. The firemen turned their attention at once to the hotel property adjoining. A few minutes later the hotel, too, was a mass of flames, and the engine streams were turned upon such of the adjacent buildings as it seemed possible to save.

The wildest excitement prevailed among the guests of the hotel, but they had no difficulty in escaping. Much of their light baggage was saved. The hotel furniture was tumbled out of windows or down the stairs, and some of it was saved in a damaged condition. When the hotel took fire telegrams for aid were sent to neighboring towns, and engines and men shortly arrived from Matawan, Keyport, Red Bank, Asbury Park, Bordentown and Burlington. When these reinforcements were brought into action, however, the fire was nearly under control.

In the Perrine building was stored a large quantity of gunpowder, and when the fire broke out Mr. Perrine closed his doors and would let no one enter because of the danger of an explosion. The old Lloyd property, next to Perrine's, was badly scorched, but no great damage was done. As far as could be learned yesterday afternoon, no one was seriously hurt, although there were stories about people being in the hotel when the roof fell.

Perrine's store consisted of two large three-story brick buildings in the shape of an L. These, with the stock, are a total loss. The hotel and the stores below on South street were razed to the ground, but considerable stock was saved from them. The fire department, under Chief Hulse, did very efficient service, and all the town is praising them for getting the fire under control so soon. The hotel was one of the landmarks of the town. It had stood for over one hundred years.

Phenomenon in Lake Superior.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Capt. Marsden, of the propeller Donaldson, relates a strange experience which he had on his trip to Chicago. A few nights ago, while coming up Lake Superior with the schooner Brightie and Nellie Mason in tow, a furious gale from the northeast was encountered. The wind attained a velocity of fully forty miles an hour, and continued with unabated fury for several hours. It was accompanied by a vicious cross sea, the waves running very high, even for Lake Superior. The steamer labored badly in the heavy sea, and it was with great difficulty that she succeeded in weathering the storm. Suddenly, and without any apparent cause, the wind died away to a dead calm, and in less than five minutes the white-capped wave flattened out into a perfectly smooth sea. The crews of the three vessels were greatly mystified by the great phenomenon, and all agreed that they had never seen anything like it on the lake before. Turning to his mate, the Captain remarked that there must have been some unusual disturbance on land. On reaching the Sault the Captain went ashore and bought a newspaper. It was then learned that at about the same time that he had witnessed this singular action of wind and wave, Charleston had been badly shaken by an earthquake.

The Mayflower Wins.

NEW YORK, September 12—The America's cup is safe for another year at least. The Mayflower beat the Galatea yesterday about fourteen minutes in a twenty mile run before the wind and in the beat back to Scotland lightship left her competitor about five miles astern. The wind was blowing from the northwest. At times it was quite fresh and at other times light. The Galatea did not finish within the time limit of seven hours and was of course out of the race. The Mayflower only just managed to sail over the course in the required time, and it was for a long time an open question whether she would make the goal. But she was handled with exceptional ability and piloted with great skill.

Sunday in Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 12.—The weather was fine to-day and many churches had religious services as before the earthquake, while others, for convenience or safety, had service in the open air. All the orphans of the city orphan house are in the building again and had service there.

Plenty of Cranberries.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., September 12.—The cranberry harvest is now at its height in this state, men, women and children being engaged in gathering the fruit. The crop is very promising, exceeding that of last year. A heavy draw on New Jersey from the west is expected, as the Wisconsin crop is an almost total failure.

Briefs.

WOBURN, Mass., September 12.—A firm of shoe manufacturers here have just finished a pair of dainty slippers for Mrs. Cleveland. The order came through an Albany house. The slippers are of the Oxford tie pattern. French kid, width A. A. They were made by hand. Brown bead work is designed in four leaves on the quarters and the vamp. The size is 3½.

PHILADELPHIA, September 12.—The wallet containing over $7,000, lost by Bank Runner Robeson while riding in a street car yesterday afternoon, was found by a teamster named John Gallagher, and was returned to the bank intact this afternoon. Gallagher's honesty was well rewarded. He kept the wallet all night, not knowing what to do with it until he read the newspapers this morning.

BOSTON, September 12.—The bark Lizzie Carter from Matanzas, which arrived to-day reports having lost First Officer Read, Second Officer Livingston and Seamen Read and Chapman from yellow fever while lying at Matanzas.

NEW YORK, September 12.—A severe storm passed over the town of West Chester to-day and destroyed trees and buildings. At William's bridge a house in process of construction, owned by John Young, was blown down. A barn belonging to Peter Briggs was struck by lightning and burned with its contents. Fences were blown down, telegraph poles prostrated and several houses were wrecked. No lives were lost.

NEWARK, Ohio, September 12.—Three weeks ago the citizens of Hartford voted for prohibition under the provision of the Dow law. Yesterday William Moore, a saloonist, made application for an injunction against the village authorities enforcing the provisions of the law. A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Hunter.

HARTFORD, Conn., September 12.—A serious accident to a train on the Providence division of the New York and New England railroad took place yesterday afternoon at Jewitt City. The train was turned on its side and thrown down an embankment, and sixteen passengers were cut and bruised. No one was seriously injured. The accident was caused by a misplaced switch.

VIENNA, September 12.—King Milan, of Servia, has arrived here en route for Gleichenberg. He had an interview to-day with M. Szogenyi, under secretary for foreign affairs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 12.—Hon. S. S. Cox, United States Minister to Turkey, is about to start for home on a furlough, owing to ill health. Mr. G. H. Heape, Secretary of the American Legation, will conduct the affairs of the office during Mr. Cox's absence, and will continue the negotiations for a new tariff treaty between the United States and Turkey.

Only Democrats to be on Deck.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—It is quite generally believed that upon the return of the President and his Cabinet officers a wholesale discharge of Republicans not under civil service law will be made. In the Interior Department there are thirty-seven Republican chiefs of division who will be discharged by November 1, and their places filled by Democrats. In the Postoffice Department there are eleven Republican chiefs who will also be removed. In the State, Army and Navy Departments there have been few removals, but all will have to go. There are less Republican chiefs in the Treasury Department than in any other single branch of the Government. Commissioner Black has said that by December 1 there will not be a Republican in that office who is not under civil service jurisdiction. Mr. Bayard, who had been conservative about making changes in his department, has assumed a proud Democratic spirit and will make a very radical change, so that in a short time none but Democrats will be on deck.

Several Hundred Persons Injured.

VIENNA, September 13.—During the celebration of early mass in the Pilgrimage church, in Randa, Transylvania, yesterday morning, a panic was caused by the accidental burning of the altar curtains, which were set on fire by the candles. People rushed from the building, trampling the weak under foot, and numbers of the occupants of the galleries leaped on the heads of the crowd below. Fifteen persons were crushed to death and thirty were severely and one hundred slightly injured during the panic.

Charges Against Mayor Smith.

PHILADELPHIA, September 13.—The special committee of councils appointed to investigate the charges against Mayor Smith reported this afternoon. The majority report is in favor of impeachment and presents articles therefor. It is signed by all the members except one who presented a minority report. Councils postponed consideration of the reports until Monday morning next.

Merry Music from Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., September 13.—Advices from the principal cities in the state show that the weather is entirely propitious for the election. Bangor, Lewiston, Augusta, Bath and the larger towns all report a fine day.

Sixty towns give Bodwell, Republican, 17,237; Edwards, democrat, 14,092, and Clarke, 928, against Robie, republican, in 1884, 19,378; Redman, democrat, 14,582; prohibitionists, 345, and greenbackers 711, showing a republican loss of 1,651. Seventy towns show a republican loss of 1,899. Reed in the First and Dingley in the Second congressional districts are elected by large majorities.

One hundred and fifty towns give Bodwell 34,532; Edwards, 27,395, and Clarke, 1,765, against Robie, in 1884, 39,400; Redman, 29,243; prohibition 649; greenback, 1,518, and scattering, 7. The republican plurality is 7,229, against 10,157. Loss, 2,931.

One hundred and eighty towns give Bodwell 39,087, Edwards 32,014 and Clark 1,947 against Robie, in 1884, 44,641, Redman 33,936, prohibition 741, greenback 1,701 and scattering 8. Republican plurality 7,073, against 10,705—a loss of 3,632.

Two hundred and twenty-three towns give Bodwell, republican, 48,633; Edwards, democrat, 39,071, and Clark, prohibitionist, 373. The same towns in 1884 gave Robie, republican, 55,839; Redman, democrat, 41,809; Eustis, prohibitionist, 840; two greenback candidates 2,093, and scattering 9. The republican plurality this year in these towns is 9,562, against 14,030 in 1884, being a loss of 4,468. A similar loss in towns yet to be heard from will give an aggregate vote of 127,000, divided as follows. Republican, 68,500; democrat, 55,200; prohibitionist, 3,300.

The labor ticket had no gubernatorial candidate nor congressional candidate in the Fourth district. But few figures are of the congressional vote are in and the labor vote will probably not be known until the official figures come in. All four republican congressmen are re-elected by handsome majorities, Reed in the First district, increasing his plurality over Clifford to 1,200, against 925 over Cleves in 1884. The legislature will stand probably 28 republican senators to 3 democrats, against a complete republican senate in 1884. The democrats will gain in the house in equal proportions, but the republicans will have a handsome majority.

AUGUSTA Me., September 13.—Milliken, for congress, will have about 4,000 majority.

AUGUSTA, Me., September 13.—Chairman Manly has sent the following to the editor of the Tribune, New York:

The result of to-day's election is a far larger republican majority than was at first anticipated. The largest indeed given in the state for the past fifteen years, except in presidential years. We expected seven or eight thousand plurality, and the figures at this hour (11 o'clock) indicate a plurality for Bodwell of not less than 12,000 and probably 14,000. We have carried every congressional district and elected two-thirds to three-fourths of the legislature, thus securing us the senate and county officers, probably in fourteen of the sixteen counties of the state. The republican plurality in this city is the largest ever thrown, being more than 700 out of a total vote of 1,800. The total vote of the state will be about 137,000, which is extraordinarily large for an off year. Out of this the aggregate of the third party will not exceed 3,500—far less than was expected by the leaders of the movement.

Six Miners Entombed.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—A serious cave in occurred at the Marvine Shaft this morning. One man was taken out dead. Six men are entombed alive. Rescuing parties are at work.

LATER.—There seems to be but little question of the death of one of them, an elderly man named John Shaffer. A number of men were cut and bruised by falling rocks and coal in making their escape up the slope. For several weeks the squeeze has been going on in a chamber of the left-hand side of the mine, the right-hand side being safe as supposed. This morning about 60 of the men went to work in the right-hand chamber. After they had been at work some time it was noticed that the squeeze was extending in the direction of where the men were at work and they were at once notified of the danger and all started for the foot of the shaft. Two falls occurred and it is not known whether the missing men were caught by the fall or had retreated to the back part of the mine. If they returned there is hope of recovering them at evening, but if they continued toward the foot of the shaft they were undoubtedly killed. The extent of the cave-in covers five or six acres.

Among those who escaped the following are injured: Henry Shaffer, a son of John Shaffer, shoulder bruised and three ribs broken; Thomas Healy, a laborer, slightly hurt; Joseph Ready, a driver, toes mashed; George Mason, a miner, hand badly cut; Peter Kelly, a timber boss, struck on the back of the head and on the shoulder by a falling rock. A search for those still remaining in the mine, and to ascertain the extent of the disaster was commenced. The fans were set going at an unusual rate of speed to force, if possible, air through crevices of the fallen rock to reach the imprisoned men, if still alive. Material for batteries and for restoring the air course were at once gathered and sent down into the mines. The main road and straight road, as they are called, are both blocked and entrance though them is as yet impassable.

A Fire at Williamsport.

WILLIAMSPORT, September 13.—Fire to-night destroyed the planing mill and box factory of Samuel Huffman, the blacksmith shop of Van Buskirk & McMillin, wagon shop of S. Jones and pretzel bakery of William Huffman. The loss is $10,000; insurance, $7,000. The other losses aggregate about $3,000, partially covered by insurance.

A Great Collision.

SILVER CREEK, N. Y., September 14.—A Niagara Falls excursion train on the Nickel Plate railroad, under the management of J. W. Butler, excursion agent, collided with a local freight train in the cut on the curve just east of here to-day. Lewis Brewer was engineer on the excursion train and William Harris was engineer of the freight train. Both engineers and firemen saved themselves by jumping. The excursion train consisted of one baggage car, one smoker and eleven coaches. Only those in the smoking car were hurt, it being completely telescoped by the baggage car.

The killed are W. W. Loomis, of Erie, Pa.; Henry Gedhart and son, John F. Gedhart, Pittsburg; Stephen Cameron, mayor of Waterford; John Suder, Pittsburgh; David Sharp, Erie; W. W. Roseatter, Erie; Charles Hersh, Erie; Mr. Lyphir, Erie; William Reynolds, Dunkirk; Aaron Parkhurst, Maysville; John Meyers, Erie. Two bodies are not identified. One is thought to be that of a son of Mr. Loomis.

The wounded are: Henry Hayick, of Stretina, Pa., both legs crushed, very serious; Samuel Tracey, Erie, head and shoulders injured, serious; William Semmurly, of Erie, badly hurt; Louis Linz, of Erie, badly hurt; Martin Rosetter, of Erie, shoulder and leg injured, not serious; Archie Campbell, of Erie, seriously injured; Edwin W. Marble, Erie, legs broken, serious; Charles Schendler, of Erie, head and shoulders injured, serious; Charles Diller, right leg broken and head cut; J. P. Herrington, of Erie, badly injured; Joseph Tapper, of Summit, Pa., badly bruised; Philo Linter, legs crushed; Mr. Coburn, of Titusville, injured slightly.

BUFFALO, September 14.—There are various causes given for the collision. Engineer William Harris, of the freight train, is blamed. It is said he had orders to meet the excursion train at Irving. He failed to obey instructions and was running at full speed when the crash occurred. The trainmen will not talk regarding who is to blame. A gentleman who was on the train says that the freight train had orders to go to Silver Creek and the passenger train to Irving, which is at this side, and it was these orders that caused the collision. The passenger and excursion train consisted of fourteen coaches. The excitement among the survivors was intense. The scene in the smoking car was harrassing. The first warning that was given was the slight jar caused by the heavy pressure of the air-brakes. Some of the passengers braced themselves in their seats, seemingly apprehensive of danger. Then came a terrible shock, followed by the smashing of windows and the roof of the car, and all was a mass of bleeding and struggling humanity. Men covered with blood were locked in each other's arms, while underneath them and on all sides lay the poor unfortunates who were instantly killed, crushed out of all human resemblance. The wounded crawled out of the debris and were assisted to neighboring houses, and the people brought bedding, etc., on which to lay the dead and dying, and did all in their power to relieve the sufferings of the wounded until the arrival of medical aid. Some of the wounded were taken to different houses and one of the coaches was turned into a hospital. In another coach the dead were placed. Most of the excursionists remained at Silver Creek, intending to return home. The regular passengers for Buffalo and other points came on this afternoon on another train.

SPECIAL MENTION.

Prompt Reform of Bodily Evils.

The prompt reform of those bodily evils, enfeebled digestion, incomplete assimilation, inactivity of the liver, kidneys and bladder, as well as of the nervous symptoms which these ailments are especially prone to beget, is always accomplished by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine, accredited by physicians, pronounced pure by analysis, and eminently wholesome and agreeable. Surely such a restorative is preferable to unpalatable and indigestible mineral drugs and unsanctioned nostrums. The nation at large assuredly thinks so judging by the unprecedented demand for the article from Maine to the Pacific, a demand now supplemented by immense orders for it received from tropical America, Mexico, the British and Spanish Colonial possessions, and elsewhere. Both at home and abroad it is recognized as a standard remedy and preventive, the decisiveness of its effects recommending it everywhere.

T e Centre Hall Lodge, I. O. G. T., Received by the Bellefonte Lodge

One of the most pleasant occurrences which has transpired this season was the reception on Tuesday evening of the Centre Hall Lodge, I. O. G. T., by the Lodge in this place. During the afternoon the members of the home Lodge were at work beautifying the interior of their hall and when these arrangements were completed it presented an inviting appearance. Other preparations for their entertainment were also made and their substantial character was proven at a later stage of the evening's exercises.

In the evening at the regular time the lodge was called to order with Chief Templar John C. Miller in the chair, and the other officers in their proper places. After some incidental business had been transacted the Lodge was declared open for the reception of the visitors from Centre Hall. Mr. Rumberger, a member of the Bellefonte lodge, was selected to escort the visitors into the august presence of the home lodge, and performed that duty with much skill and grace. The members of the Bellefonte Lodge arose as the visitors entered and received them with smiling countenances, hand shakings and cordial greetings. Everybody shook hands with everybody and when this ceremony was over the visitors felt quite at home.

The representatives of the Centre Hall Lodge numbered twenty-four, being about two-thirds of the entire membership of that Lodge. No more agreeable visitors were ever entertained under any circumstances than those who composed this delegation. They are from amongst the most pleasant people from that delightful little town, and the entire population of Centre Hall have reason to be proud of its Good Templars. They were peculiarly agreeable and congenial on this occasion.

When everybody was again sufficiently composed to devote themselves to the literary programme prepared the combined Lodge was again called to order and the choir rendered a "Welcome Song," singing in this selection, as well as in all the choruses which followed, in a style which attracted the attention and admiration of all.

Mr. Miller delivered an address of welcome, which was very felicitous in the thought it expressed and the language used. He spoke of the kind welcome the Bellefonte Lodge received when it visited Centre Hall, and said if the visitors, on this occasion, experienced even half as much pleasure as the Bellefonte delegation did when they visited Centre Hall he would be abundantly satisfied. The address was responded to by Rev. W. E. Fisher, pastor of the Centre Hall Lutheran church, in his happiest style, and anyone who knows the ability of this gentleman can be assured that the address was a finished and eloquent production.

The choir rendered a selection entitled, "Carry me back to my home once more," probably because they thought they would have to be carried home after the refreshments. Mr. G. W. Rumberger, delivered a recitation, it being a reply to the objections made by outside parties to the temperance cause. This recitation was very logical in its statements and at the same time quite humorous. It was rendered in a manner to bring out all its fine points. Miss Fannie Twitmire pleased the audience with a well executed instrumental solo. This was followed by a recess during which refreshments were served, including ice cream, cake, grapes and coffee. Twenty minutes or longer were employed in doing full justice to these good things, and of the members of the home Lodge it was noticed that Messrs. Bond Valentine, C. E. Schaeffer and Jas. K. Barnhart figured most conspicuously in in the ease and rapidity with which they made the refreshments disappear. Rev. W. E. Fischer remarked that he felt better than he had for a long time previous, and he accounted for it by the fact that ministers are always at their best when at an ice cream or turkey table.

Further literary exercises followed the refreshments, Mr. Jas. R. Hughes leading off in a recitation entitled, "My First Party," spoken in the Dutch dialect. This created laughter and amusement. Then followed, "Nearer Home," by the choir and a vocal solo by Mrs. R. M. Magee. The solo was so well received that an encore was called for although the lady did not respond. Mr. Francis Speer recited "The Drunkard and his Death," delivered in a thrilling style and rendered more vivid and real by the illustration of a wine cup on the table near him.

Missellaneous remarks were given at this juncture, Rev. J. M. King, C. U. Rishel and Clevan Dinges making felicitous remarks. H. W. Dinges was requested by the Bellefonte Lodge to deliver a humorous recitation, and responded. The exercises concluded with a selection by the choir, entitled "To God in Heaven," and several brief remarks intended for the good of the order. The Lodge closed in the regular order and the company separated.

The following persons composed the delegation from the Centre Hall Lodge: Rev W E Fischer, Rev J M King, Rev C U Rishell, Samuel Krumbine, G W Krumbine W A Sandoe, Jas H Lohr, Jas Gregg, J N Thomas, C F Deininger, Chas Garis, H W Dinges, Clevan Dinges Mrs Sandoe, Jennie Boal, Annie Dinges, Amanda Krumbine, Mary Floray, Gertie Floray, Mame Gregg, Maude King, Maggie Rishell, Beulah Brisbin, Sadie Deininger.

The "Price Current."

In dry goods the prices remain about the same, varying but little. Of course, summer goods are at their lowest price and are disappearing from the shelves to give way to the more reasonable fall fabrics. The demand for the fall trade promises to be good, although we believe our merchants will do well to increase their stock but moderately, buying cautiously and discriminatingly.

The provision market varies considerably. Butter is gradually climbing up—up—and if it ascends much higher some people will be compelled to eat their daily bread without its usual covering of butter. Some garden produce is ridiculously low. For instance, tomatoes at 40 cents per bushel. Who wants to raise tomato plants, transplant them, tend them carefully, shoo the chickens out of the tomato patch to keep the fruit whole, train the vines on frames to keep the tomatoes from coming in contact with the ground and thus rapidly decaying, pick the fruit, and then sell a bushel for 40 cents? Love apples, indeed! Love comes pretty cheap.

Oh, that we had an orchard of peach trees all filled with fruit! They are the trumps in price this year. We haven't seen a peach for less than $1.25 per basket, and they range from that price to $1.60 per basket. Peaches and cream constitute a very rare dish.

It is quite a step from peaches to hay. Yet the farmer furnishes both of them, and we can congratulate him on the price of both butter and peaches when we know he can get only from $8 to $10 a ton for hay. Eight dollars was what a Bellefonte livery man told us to quote it and when we explained that we then had it from $8 to $10, he said, "Well, that is just right." It seems a low price for hay.

Jack Kenney's Attempt to Escape Jail.

During the August court Jack Kenney was sentenced to quite a long term of imprisonment. The other day he became weary of life behind prison bars, and devised an ingenious scheme to regain his liberty. He followed the example of the most skillful black-cork artists in changing his white skin in to the hue of African black, and when the work was accomplished in the most approved manner he couldn't tell himself from a darky even when looking into a mirror. Thus metamorphosed in appearance he went to the outside door and gave the signal usually given by visitors to the jail who want to pass out again after spending a short time with the prisoners. The turnkey came to the door and seeing a negro in inside and being aware that there were no black prisoners in the jail he at once opened the door to give the man his liberty. The deputy sheriff was near by and Jack tried his best to act in a natural manner. He did not hurry, but walked out with as much unconcern as the man who has never been in jail in his life. But the deputy sheriff looked at him closely and at once detected the identity of the man through the exterior covering of burnt cork and ordered him to return to jail. Thus terminated one of the most novel plans of which we have heard to escape from jail.

—The following from the Altoona Tribune is of local interest: "Rev. J. M. Goheen, son of our esteemed friend, J. J. Goheen, of Rock Springs, Centre county, is visiting the family of William Gardner, on Howard avenue. Mr. Goheen has been stationed at Kolhapur, India, a city of about 40,000 inhabitants. He is a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to meet, and his conversation regarding the natives of India and their customs is very interesting. Perhaps American workingmen will be surprised to hear that in India the laboring man receives but ten cents per day, while skilled mechanics are content to receive twice that much. Mr. Goheen will remain with his friends about a year, when he will return to his adopted home and his chosen life work."

Republican Meeting at Marsh Creek School House.

Quite an enthusiastic Republican meeting was held Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, at Marsh Creek School House in Boggs township. There was a large turnout and the school house was packed full. The object of the meeting was for the purpose of organizing a Beaver Club. Jacob Yarnell was chosen president of the evening, John L. Craft and John Emenheiser vice presidents, and John Richard and E. I. Walker secretaries. Addresses were then made by W. E. Gray, Esq., and John G. Love, Esq., members of the Bellefonte Bar, in which the principal issues of the campaign were discussed. After the addresses an opportunity was given for persons to enroll themselves as members of the Beaver Club. In a few minutes upwards of 40 persons had signed their names to the list, and an enthusiastic and earnest working Beaver Club formed. In a few days a list of the permanent officers of the club will be forwarded for publication.

A CITIZEN OF BOGGS TWP.

BERLIN papers copy from the Germania the account of an important discovery in glass manufacture made by Friedrich Siemens, of Dresden. He has succeeded in casting glass in the same way as metal is cast and obtaining an article corresponding to cast metal. This glass is hard, not dearer in production than cast iron, and has the advantage of transparency, so that all flaws can be detected before it is applied to practical use. It will be much less exposed to injury from atmospheric influences than iron. The process of production is not difficult, the chief feature being rapid cooling. The hardness and resisting power of this cast glass are so great that experiments are being just now carried out at the Siemens Glass Foundry at Dresden with the purpose of ascertaining whether the material could be employed for rails on railways.

THE full extent of the damage done by the recent earthquake shocks will probably not be known for some time, and meanwhile many wild stories may be expected. The report of sailors arriving at Savannah, Ga., that they were unable after diligent search to find the Island of Cuba, and their belief that it was wiped out of existence by the late terranean disturbances, are startling to say the least. Inasmuch as we have been in cable communication daily with Havana ever since the quakes were felt, the island is certainly safe, and Cuba will yet hold her place on the map of the world. Men who go down to the sea in ships have ample time and opportunity to cultivate their imaginative faculties, and these stories have had such an origin.

A New Enterprise.

Mr. Harry Schroyer has opened a carpet store in Reynolds' new building on the north side of Bishop street, just west from Bunnell & Aikens' ware rooms. He has filled the room with a splendid assortment of carpets, mattings, rugs, oil cloths, window shades,etc. Call and see these goods. They are the finest in quality and cheapest in price ever brought to Bellefonte.

He also calls attention to a new carpet cleaning process which he alone has the right to use in this county. All carpets can be cleaned without being removed from the floor, and made to look as good as new.

—The Ansonville Weekly Gazette, Vol. 1, No. 16, was received Wednesday. Although it is sixteen weeks old, we had never heard of it before. Ansonville, the place where it is printed, is in Clearfield county. We sympathise with Clearfield county, for we fear that papers are multiplying there about as rapidly as they are in Centre county. The new paper, we judge, is Democratic—not that we notice any political flavor in its contents, but from the fact that all the announcements of candidates for office made in its columns are subject to Democratic rules.

A BOSTON paper says that Mr. Dow wrote to the British Temperance Alliance three months ago: "The Maine law, administered by the Republican party, has driven out every distillery and brewery from the State, has stopped nineteen-twentieths of the liquor traffic and has added $10,000,000 annually to the wealth of the State." On Mr. Dow's authority the Maine Republicans have done more for temperance than have the Georgia Prohibitionists.

—The communication from Guyer,Pa., is too long to use entire in this issue, but it will be published hereafter. We merely take from it the note that Miss Mary Whitney, daughter of Rev. W. R. Whitney, of Altoona, is visiting many young friends and acquaintances in that vicinity.

SECRETARY MANNING has gone to Albany, not with health restored but greatly improved. The regret over Mr. Manning's probable withdrawal from the Administration is deepened by the growing conviction that he is the only thorough business man in the Cabinet.

THE Taylor brothers, who are opposing candidates for Governor of Tennessee, have begun a joint debate. The speeches are marked by a refreshing absence of personalities and low flings at an opponent's family relations.

It did Look Suspicious.

St. Paul Globe.

"This looks suspicious!" exclaimed Mrs. Suspicion, directing attention to a long, golden hair which she had discovered on the shoulder of her husband's coat. She took it up carefully and, twining it about her finger, examined it carefully.

"Sure it ain't yours, my dear?" he said. "You know your hair has a golden tinge in the sunlight."

"My hair is black," responded his wife in a manner that indicated too plainly that flattery would not quiet her. "This is yellow red I may say. Now how did it get on your coat? That's what I would like to know."

"Oh," responded he, "I forgot to tell you of a little episode that occurred today. As I was coming along the street I heard the cry of fire, and, looking up, discovered several females looking out the window of the fifth story, and crying for assistance. I went up the fire escape, and soon had all the girls safely down on the sidewalk. One of them must have been red-headed."

"The evening paper did not have a line about a fire," she said.

"Of course not," continued he. "The fire did not amount to anything. I went around to my office and asked that my name be left out, in fact demanded that no mention of the affair be made, and actually threatened to stop my subscription if any publicity was given to my conduct. The reporter had me written up as a hero, and I knew you would not like to see me in print as saving anyone but you, so I kept it out of print. By the way, I saw a very pretty sealskin sacque down town to-day that I half way ordered for you. I wish you would go down to-morrow and see how you like it."

All Sorts.

A thief entered James McCarthy's room at Marinette, Wis., and stole his wedding clothes. The ceremony had to be deferred. Some men always appear to be in luck.

A coroner's jury in Dakota has found that the deceased "came to her death from a felonious desire to reach a happy hereafter." There is nothing like euphony even in matters of the driest detail

An Austin merchant, as a personal favor, took the son of a wealthy gentleman into his office to learn the business, giving him the cash book to keep. "Does the cash account balance?" asked the merchant at the end of the first day. "Oh, yes, splendidly. There are even forty or fifty dollars too much."

The Sun now comes forward with an article headed: "What shall be done with the Apaches?" This proves conclusively that the Apaches are more level-headed than the whites, simply because they have always known what to do with us; while we, it appears, even at this late day, are inquiring what shall we do with them.

A Chronic Grumbler.

From the Philadelphia North American

He was a chronic growler, and his breakfast was so deliciously cooked, and so perfectly served that it actually made him unhappy.

"What is the matter, my dear?" asked his wife anxiously. "Isn't everything all right?"

"This cream seems very thick. Are you certain it's sweet?"

"Yes, I skimmed it off last night's milk myself. Is that all?"

"Well—er—this coffee is so blamed hot I can't drink it!"

A Significant Word.

"My dear," said Mrs. Snaggs to her husband, "what is a canard?"

"Don't you know what a canard is?" queried Snaggs, rather sneeringly; "why the word itself conveys its own meaning."

"Does it? Well, really I can't see it. What does it mean, dear?"

"Why, a canard is something one canardly believe, of course."

"O, to be sure! Why couldn't I think of that?"

Showing Them Up.

The Congregationalist feels impelled to show up the absurdities of the clothing worn by modern men and women, and is particularly severe on fashion, calling it "the prince of powers of the air—the spirit that forever worketh in the sons of disobedience." And yet the good brother who wrote this article is probably as careful as anybody to wear the regulation clerical white necktie which has been prescribed by the aforesaid "prince."

Why It Burned.

Mrs. De Wiggs: What made Mr Homan's house burn down, Jack?

Jack; Spontaneous combustion, I believe.

Mrs. De Wiggs: Is that so? I heard somebody say it took fire of itself, but I didn't believe any such nonsense.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Works through the blood, regulating, toning and invigorating all the functions of the body.

Ringworm Humor and Salt-Rheum.

RAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.

C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gentlemen— • • • • I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the last seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the sores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.

I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of any account since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.

Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is sold by all druggists. Price $1, or six large bottles for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

The Situation at Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 8.—At 8.40 this morning there was another slight shock, but few persons felt it and no panic ensued. At daylight there was the usual rush, on the part of the colored people, for the public commissary, where rations are distributed. The scenes about the streets this morning are more lively, and the work of pulling down dismantled houses and tottering walls is being continued. The money received here amounts now to more than $100,000, but the sum will scarcely do more than relieve pressing and immediate wants. The hearts of the people of Charleston are touched by the generosity of their fellow-citizens.

A prominent architect and builder from New York, while taking a stroll through the streets, took occasion to examine some of the heaps of mortar and bricks: "It seems to me," he said, "that a good deal of the destruction in Charleston is due to careless and imperfect work. I have noticed in very many instances that the mortar used in the construction of dwellings here is of a very inferior kind. In some instances there are hardly any traces of lime and cement. Bricks which are laid in that kind of mortar will not remain together in any violent shock. The city ought to have an official to inspect building material. There are builders, not only in Charleston, but all over the world, who will take advantage of people and use cheap material.

"I have noticed several brick buildings standing, the walls of which are put up with an inferior kind of mortar that will not hold bricks together, and that is the kind that I suspect has been used in many of the buildings that were shattered. I noticed a good deal of this peculiar kind of mortar all over the city in the heaps of debris. I do not mean to say that a house built with proper mortar would have stood the shock of the earthquake you had in Charleston, but I am certain that the destruction would not have been as great."

Turkey and Bulgaria.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—The porte has sent a note to the powers praying them to prevent a foreign military occupation of Bulgaria. Turkey has authorized the Ottoman bank to issue a loan for 500,000 Turkish pounds, half payable directly and the remainder in instalments. The porte continues to make active war preparations, and present indications point to the drafting of all men for immediate service able to do military duty. Dispatches from Bevroot state that the Syrian reserves have been summoned for service in the Salonica district on the Roumelian frontier. The conscription has to be enforced at the point of the bayonet. Several thousand troops have been sent from Beyroot to Damascus to enforce the conscription The populace throughout Syria are greatly excited, and fears of an insurrection are entertained. The recruits are leaving their families destitute. Diplomats here believe that the Bulgarian national assembly will re-elect Prince Alexander.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The Novoe Vremya urges Russia to secure a good understanding with Turkey, and urges Turkey not to abandon its traditional policy of adapting itself to existing circumstances. "A Russo-Turkish alliance," adds the Novoe Vremya, "would solve the Bulgarian question. Russia should concern herself less about western Europe in order to obtain a freer hand in the east."

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The Neue Freie Presse says that Prince Alexander yesterday, when delivering his farewell address to his officers and informing them of the urgent necessity he was under to leave Bulgaria, said: "If my departure is not forever, it is until the national assembly of Bulgaria decides the question."

An Unsuccessful Race.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., September 9.—The yachts started on the race at about 11:35 on the starboard tack, standing northeast, one mile and a half from the lightship. The Galatea was leading the Mayflower about 100 yards, but the Mayflower was well to windward. They pointed for Rockaway under mainsail, gaff topsail, staysail and jib. Wind east, 24 miles, foggy. At 11:50 the Mayflower was near the whistling buoy, outside Bar Point, well up, and seemed to be overhauling the Galatea. At 12 o'clock the yachts tacked and were lost sight of in the fog. At that hour the Mayflower seemed to be closing the gap between her and the cutter. Wind 22 miles, east.

The weather is so thick outside that the time of the start of the yachts could not be taken with any certainty. It is believed, judging from the whistling of the steam craft, that the yachts started between 10:05 and 10:10.

1.10 p. m.—Fog so heavy that nothing can be seen. A tug signals to the Hook that the Galatea is still ahead.

1 20 p. m.—The velocity of the wind is now 22 miles an hour, and it still holds from the eastward. In the windward work the cutter is at her best, but the Boston boat does not allow the Englishman to get away from her very rapidly, and if she hugs her closely will have the advantage in the home run with free sheets. The sea is covered with white caps and very heavy; the surf is pounding on the beach here. There are no signs of a let-up in the storm. The fog has not lifted. A tug boat captain just in from off the shore reports that when he left the yachts the Mayflower was about one-eighth of a mile ahead, both on their second starboard tack standing toward Rockaway beach. The Galatea started ahead in the race from the Scotland lightship.

2.20 p. m.—The fog is clearing away off shore. Several yachts are cruising outside the bar, waiting for the return of the racers. The wind is east and howling fourteen miles an hour. It is probable that the race will be finished by 5 o'clock.

NEW YORK, September 9.—There are plenty of disappointed yachtmen in New York to-night, for the second race of the international series has been postponed till Saturday. After sailing in a brisk breeze from the eastward four hours and in a light breeze from the same quarter for two hours more, the Mayflower and Galatea, with an accompanying fleet of nearly one hundred vessels, were enveloped in a thick fog ten miles east of the Sandy Hook lightship and were compelled to abandon the race. When the Mayflower rounded the outer mark, 20 miles east of the Scott lightship, the Galatea was not in sight. From that point the Mayflower had outsailed her on every tack from the start, both carrying the same sail, in a breeze that was steady from about the east, with an occasional rain squall and a moderately heavy swell from that quarter.

NEW YORK, September 9.—8.30 p. m.—Incoming boats report that the race is off to-day on account of the failure to make the distance in the required time. The dense fog still continues.

Wiggins says He Predicted the Earthquake.

OTTAWA, Ontario, September 9.—Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, of this city, has submitted documentary and other proof to the Minister of Marine, going to show that he predicted at far back as March of last year the earthquakes which are prevailing in the South. He also announces in the Ottawa Journal of May 13 last the approach of subterranean disturbances in the same locality. The Professor declares that the worst has not yet been reached, and declares that the greatest strain will be between this period and the middle of October. The Southern States will again be visited by earthquakes, and the disturbance will extend to California and South America.

On being asked for his reasons for making the predictions Wiggins said. "Earthquakes are caused by the shifting of the earth's centre of gravity. Suppose this centre of gravity be moved, say one mile from her normal centre of gravity, or from her centre of volume; now, what must happen? Why, the parts of her surface at the end of the longer axis will be heavier than normally. These disks, therefore, will grind upon each other, generating heat and lava. Hence earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. If our little satellite were brought down and slid around the earth from east to west, in 24 hours earthquakes would occur of such violence as to render our globe uninhabitable." Professor Wiggins claims that these forces were in action at the end of August. Both the earth's satelites, two of which, he says, exist, were then in perigee. Jupiter was also near his inferior conjunction, which in a limited degree increased the strain.

For the Charleston Sufferers.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 9.—A meeting of citizens was held last evening to devise means for the relief of the Charleston sufferers. Mayor Barlett presided and appointed a committee of thirty to collect contributions. An appeal to the public in behalf of the object will be published in the city newspapers.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The Executive Committee appointed by Mayor O'Brian has issued a circular for distribution among Bostonians stating that private advice show that the newspaper reports of Charleston's needs are not exaggerated, and calling for the subscriptions in Boston of at least $50,000 for the relief fund.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 9.—So far $1,400 has been subscribed here for the Charleston sufferers, and of this sum $1,000 has been sent by express to the Mayor of Charleston. More money will be sent this evening.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., September 9.—The total contributions for the Charleston sufferers at the Mayor's office up to noon to-day amouts to $3,289.

The Apaches.

TOMBSTONE, Arizona, September 10.—Some interesting facts regarding the part taken by General Miles in securing the removal of the hostile Apaches from Arizona have come to the knowledge of your correspondent. When Chief Chatto was petted and praised by the various departments at Washington and it was decided that he should return to the San Carlos reservation and receive proper treatment, and the secretary decided to have him return, they started him from Washington without notifying General Miles.

The latter considers this a discourteous proceeding on the part of the government, and at once wired a vigorous protest against the return of the marauder, and ordered that he and his companions be meanwhile detained in Kansas until Secretary Endicott could be heard from. The secretary telegraphed to General Miles that if good and sufficient reasons were not presented to him at once, Chatto and his friends would be sent to the reservation at Fort Smith.

General Miles at once notified Secretary Endicott that he would forward his reasons for not desiring the return of the Apaches to the reservation. Following is a portion of the reply: "You ask me why I desire the removal of the Apaches from the territory? I will tell you in as few words as possible. I ask it in the name of the territory, whose prospects and progress have been blasted and retarded by the fiendish cruelties of many of those Indians. I ask it in the name and on behalf of the widows and fatherless children whose lives have been wrecked and whose future has been darkened by the murdering raids of these fiends. I ask it in the name of the thousands of lives that have been offered up as a sacrifice to the reservation system. Finally, I ask it in the name of civilization, which can never make an advance in this territory so long as the Indians are allowed periodically to terrorize the country."

Two Fatal Accidents.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Sept. 10.—On Wednesday about noon a son of Milton Lawhead, who lives in Lawrence township, took a colt to water. He had foolishly tied the strap by which he was leading it around his waist. On the way he stumbled and fell, frightening the animal which ran away, dragging the unfortunate lad over the ground a considerable distance. It was some time before he was missed and upon search being made he was found lying by the roadside in an unconscious condition, in which state he continued until to-day when he died.

Harry Gaines, employed on a saw mill at Surveyor Run, near this place, met his death yesterday in the following manner: He was riding on a truck on a tramway connected with the mill when it jumped the track and crushed him to death. He carried a child in his arms at the time of the accident but it escaped injury.

The Arkansas Election.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., September, 8.—Partial returns from one half of the counties in the state indicate no change from estimates telegraphed Tuesday night. Combinations between the Republicans and other elements affected the Democratic vote in several counties and defeated local democratic tickets whole or in part.

Wants More Policemen.

HARRISBURG, September 10.—The Cambria iron company of Johnstown has asked Governor Pattison to commission 188 policemen, whose names they have submitted, for the protection of its property which is spread over a wide area and subject to damage and destruction by persons who are opposed to the policy of the company in not employing Knights of Labor. The policemen, if Governor Pattison grants the petition, will be commissioned under an act of legislature passed several years ago and will be in the pay of the iron company. No immediate trouble is feared by the latter, but the distribution of this force over its own property is considered advisable, owing to an insufficient constabulary.

Will Enter Politics.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—The Knights of Labor and members of the Central Labor union and other labor organizations in this city have combined under the name of the united labor party, and will hold a convention of delegates from the various assemblies and unions on October 7, for the purpose of nominating a full city, congressional and legislative ticket. The central committee has recently been in conference with the greenback committee and an alliance with them will probably be formed.

Was Well Shaken.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 10.—Capt. W. E. Plummer, of the steamer Mary D. Hume, which arrived in port last night reports that while sixteen miles north west of Point Reys, yesterday, nine distinct shocks of earthquake were felt. The vibrations were from north of east to south of west. They were not felt at San Francisco.

Prince Bismarck's Sickness.

BERLIN, September 8.—It is officially announced that Prince Bismarck is not suffering from sciatia, as has been reported. He strained and lacerated some muscels while returning from Gastein, the announcement states, and no anxiety, it is added, is entertained concerning the outcome of his ailment.

Christians Massacred.

PARIS, September 10.—The Univers publishes a telegram from the bishop of Tonquin saying that 700 Christians have been massacred and forty villages burned in the province of Manhoa and that nine thousand Christians are perishing of hunger.

Briefs.

ITHICA, N. Y., September 10.—About twenty members of the League of American Wheelmen who started from Buffalo for Harpers Ferry on their annual tour arrived here to-night. In descending the steep hill leading to the village two of the party, Warner and Dakin, took headers. Warner received a ghastly cut under the chin and was severely jarred. Dakin was struck on the right side of the forehead, sustaining concussion of the brain and possibly a fracture of the skull. Dakin now lies in an unconscious and critical condition.

HARRISBURG, Pa., September 10.—At a meeting of the state prohibition committee this afternoon, A. A. Stevens, of Blair, was chosen chairman, and Robert Courson, of Philadelphia, treasurer, in place of Professor Patton and Joshua L. Baily respectively, who resigned.

READING, Pa., September 10.—To-day John Bachman, aged 16, playfully pointed a revolver at his brother, Francis, aged 18, snapping it several times, when a cartridge was exploded, the ball striking Francis just below the eye, inflicting a mortal wound. John did not know the pistol was loaded.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The sensational story published this morning, stating that the island of Cuba was sunk by the recent earthquakes, is a canard. The Western Union telegraph company report that they are at present in telegraphic communications with Havana.

LONDON, September 10.—By an explosion in a colliery near Bristol to-day seven persons were killed and ten injured.

NEW YORK, September 10.—Clothing cutters in thirty shops went out on a strike to-day again. The grievances complained of are that they have been discriminated against because they are union men.

CHARLESTON, September 9.—Three slight shocks were felt at Summerville to-day.

HARTFORD, Conn., September 9.—The Republican State convention to-day nominated Phenas C. Lounsbury for governor.

SARANAC INN, September 9.—President Cleveland will probably remain in the wilderness at least a week longer.

The Oldest Bank Note.

The oldest bank note probably in existence in Europe is one preserved in the Asiatic Museum at St. Petersburg. dates from the year 1399 B. C., and was issued by the Chinese government. It can be proved from Chinese chroniclers that, as early as 2697 B. C., bank notes were current in China under the name of "flying money." The bank note preserved at St. Petersburg bears the name of the imperial bank, date and number of issue, signature of a mandarin, and contains even a list of the punishments inflicted for forgery of notes. This relic of 4,000 years ago is probably written, for printing from wooden tablets is said to have been introduced in China in the year 160 A. D.

Good, if True.

Gas tar water is sure death to potato bugs. S. R. Hart, of Bridgton, N. Y., near Rochester, has for two years past used on his potato vines water which had been impregnated with gas tar. Put two quarts of gas tar in a pail and fill the pail with water; stir it up well and let the tar settle; then sprinkle the vines with the water from a sprinkling pot. This has proved more effective than Paris green. He has also tried it on currant bushes, and finds it equally effective. It is inexpensive and perfectly reliable, and no doubt will prove equally sure death to insects of every kind on trees. This gas tar can be had for $1 a barrel, and one barrel would supply a whole township.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetation remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after testing its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. 18 11 1y

—The Philadelphia Times appears to have been kind of lonely this summer, all because it didn't know the whereabouts of Col. A. Wilson Norris. It was very stupid of the Times not to be aware that Col. Norris was in Bellefonte. He has been in this vicinity most of the Summer and is such an agreeable citizen that we guess we will keep him. But the Times just found out, since last Tuesday night, where the Colonel is and will begin to talk about him again, we suppose. Perhaps the Times will learn some time that when it cannot find any of its citizens in Philadelphia it can safely look for them in Bellefonte.

—Mitchell M. Ray, the young man who invented the umbrella, the granting of a patent for which was mentioned in Wednesday's NEWS, is a brother of Sylvester Ray, Esq. He is about 21 years of age and is now employed at Altoona. The umbrella is said to be an ingenius affair, which when not in use can be folded up into a very small compass and put in a traveling satchel or any other convenient place.

—Mr. Fitzgerald, one of the genial employes of the Bellefonte Nail Company, was among those who thoroughly enjoyed the trip to Lewisburg on Thursday and the exercises incident thereto. He met great numbers of his old-time acquaintances among the old soldiers assembled there and especially several from Williamsport, of which city he was for a long time a resident.

A Smart Professor.

When the rich mineral district of Vulture, A. T., was developed, large mining camps were established, thronged with enterprising prospectors, and all went well save the supply of mail matter, which came to hand only once a week. Petition after petition was forwarded to Washington urging the necessity of increasing the mail supply, but the department was deaf to all entreaties, and made no reply whatever to the repeated demands. Every body was in indignant despair, when Prof. George A. Treadwell, a noted mining engineer, undertook the apparently impossible task of securing a daily mail.

The professor went to work deliberately to prepare a of supply tin and wooden boxes, and at each outgoing mail forwarded to the Postmaster-General the finest obtainable samples of Arizona products of horned toads, lizards, centipedes, scorpion and tarantulas, finally winding up with an extraordinary specimen of the rattlesnake species. Each of these was accompanied by a long and graphic description, from the scientific standpoint of its origin, genus, habits, etc., and to each letter was added a postscript: "I shall keep up the supply as long as Arizona furnishes any thing novel or strange, or until our mail facilities are properly increased."

The officials of the department were at first pleased by the packages of natural curiosities, and did not catch on to the drift of the thing until the twenty-seventh specimen, a fine rattlesnake, came safely to hand. Then a new light broke in upon the post office people, and they became immensely tired of the honored toads and "sich." The professor was duly visited by a letter of thanks for his contribution to science and the suggestion politely made that the Postmaster-General would take it as a favor if he would cease remitting any more specimens. A postscript, however, was added by the corresponding clerk, which read about as follows: "For Heaven's sake, don't send any more of this sort of stuff and you can have any thing in the department you want." Mail service was increased to daily, and no more insects or reptile consignments were received.—Ex.

Gleanings.

"What a beautiful form!" exclaimed Miss Titelace, the first time she saw an eel; "such a long, thin waist, you know."

Miss Bradden's latest novel is called "The One Thing Needful," which makes it seem as though it might be the history of a gold mine.

It is said that hops will induce sleep. All the same, the more "hops" the young people at the seaside resorts indulge in, the more sleep they lose.

Institution of Snow Shoe Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F.

One who was there, furnishes the follow in regard to the organization of an Odd Fellows Lodge at Snow Shoe:

In a special session of the Grand Lodge, on Tuesday, September 7, at 2 p. m., Chas. W. Ridgway, Grand Master of the I. O. O. F. of Pennsylvania, assisted by Post Grand Master F. V. Vanartsdalen, as Grand Warden, D. F. Fortney, Esq., D. D. G., Master; Mr. H. B. Pontius, Grand Marshall; Mr. W. B. Rankin, Grand Secretary, and others of the various lodges in this and the neighboring counties, instituted a new lodge of the order at Snow Shoe, under the name of Snow Shoe Lodge, No. 226.

The organization of the new Lodge took place in the afternoon and the officers were duly elected and installed. Mr. J. S. Ewing was installed Noble Grand; Mr. —. Cooper, Vice Grand; Jas. Whitaker, Secretary; A. C. Eckley, Assistant Secretary; Joseph Smith, Treasurer; Claude Cooke, Past Grand; George Shirer, Chaplain, and S. A. Hinton, Inside Guardian.

At six o'clock after the installation the Lodge formed in rank and headed by the Snow Shoe City Band paraded through the town in full regalia and escorted the grand officers to the Mountain House. The Lodge convened again at 7:30 and initiated twenty-two new members, thus giving the new Lodge a strong working membership at the start. The Lodge opens with bright prospects, and there is no doubt that it will prosper and become one of the strongest lodges in the county.

On Wednesday morning the grand officers, accompanied by several of the members of Centre Lodge, came to Bellefonte and paid their respects to Gov. Curtin, Gen. Beaver and others. They seemed greatly pleased with the town and surrounding country and were especially charmed by the spring which supplies the town with water.

Several Important Occurrences at Howard.

SEPTEMBER 7.

About a week ago, Mr. Daniel Lucas' cow failed to come home at the usual time, and search was made all over the woods and mountains, until finally she was found dead in the Narrows between Howard and Jacksonville. She was lying in some bushes near the road. On examination, it was found that she had been shot through the head, the ball passing clear through. This is about half a mile from Mr. Lucas' home and the affair looks very much like spite work. Mr. Lucas is comparatively a poor man, but very industrious, and can illy afford to lose the cow, as he had only one. We would suggest a cash donation to Mr. Lucas to buy another cow. Who will begin?

Rev. Mr. Shoemaker was out on a visit to Glenn Hope, where he was preaching last year. While returning home his horse became frightened at a freight train, broke the harness and ran into a mill race, where the animal would have drowned had not men been there to help it out. The logs in the race prevented the horse from struggling on shore unaided. Mr. Shoemaker's lower limbs received the worst injuries. He came home on the cars. The buggy is not damaged with the exception of the shafts being broken. Mr. Homer Shoemaker went on Monday for the horse and buggy, to bring them home. The reverend gentleman is able to attend to his duties about the same as usual.

We just had information that some "heathen" stole the Widow Gardner's plums. For shame!

Mr. Wilbur Bickle, of Howard, was chosen teacher of the Kenada school.

The Howard borough schools were given out at the regular meeting of the board on Monday evening. The are: Joseph L. Gardner, of Howard township, for the Grammar school; Miss Fannie Gardner, of Howard borough, for the Second grade; Miss Clara J. Kline, of Howard borough, for Primary grade.

The schools will begin on Monday, Oct. 18, for a five months' term.

ALERT.

Opening of the Borough Schools.

It is well that the time for the re-opening of the borough schools was postponed until this week, Tuesday and Wednesday, as it would have been very trying to both teachers and scholars to have been confined in the school rooms during this, the warmest week of the season. Doubtless, the weather next week will be better adapted to the resumption of duties of any kind, and particularly to that of beginning a course of study.

Go to school on the first day and continue in attendance regularly during the entire term. The furniture in many of the school rooms has been renewed, the interior of and the entrances to the old building have been made brighter and more cheerful with fresh paint, and the guardians of public education seem to have done all they could for the benefit of the pupils. Repay their efforts by the care you will take of the new furniture and the evidences of progress which you will show. With a full corps of trained, experienced teachers the results this year should be more excellant than ever before.

—Logan Hose Company will be accompanied by the Howard band when it goes to the firemen's convention in Altoona.

Grand Army Day at Lewisburg.

As was announced in the DAILY NEWS of Thursday, 243 persons left Bellefonte on the 6 a. m. train for Lewisburg, and as also predicted in the same paper the passengers numbered about 1,000 upon reaching that town. The train made better time than we expected and reached Lewisburg soon after 9 o'clock a. m. The entire day was one of exciting pleasure. Lewisburg was alive with the throbbing pulsations of almost countless humanity who arrived on every in coming train. The number present reached several thousand. The weather was perfect and the occasion was unusual in the great pleasure which it afforded to every one.

Abundant preparation had been made to entertain visitors with princely hospitality. Both dinner and supper were served in the Armory to all who would partake and the viands were of the most substantial and refreshing description.

The parade was astonishing in its proportions and brilliancy. As was remarked by a veteran who has attended many such gatherings, not since the war has he seen so many soldiers together. There was music in abundance, eighteen bands, including some of the best in the State, making the burg resound with music from one end to the other. The Pleasant Gap band accompanied the Centre county excursionists and played very creditably.

The train was more thronged in returning than in going and until it left about five hundred at Mifflinburg the cars were entirely too full for comfort. The train reached Bellefonte about 3 o'clock this morning.

Among the distinguished persons present were ex-Gov. Curtin, Gen. Osborne, Gen. Gobin, department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of Pennsylvania, and Captain Sayres. Among the other G. A. R. posts represented from this county were Philipsburg, Lemont, Milesburg, Howard, Fleming, Pine Grove Mills, Millheim and Eagleville. A camp fire was held in the evening, addresses being made by Generals Gobin, Steward and others.

Eloped with an Italian Lover.

News has come to us of a sensation in Curtin township. A well-known lady of that section, the wife of a good citizen and the mother of several young children, became enamored with an Italian named Leo and has gone with him to parts at present unknown.

The information comes to us from the most reliable source, and it is doubtless authentic. We regret that there is any woman in Centre county who would do such a reprehensible action. Our informant further states that "detectives are at work to ferret out their whereabouts." We believe that we would leave the woman go. A woman who would thus misbehave must be lost to all proper feelings of love and affection and the further she is from her family, the better it will be for them.

On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock there was a quiet and pretty wedding at the home of Mr. George Minsker, on East Curtin street. The contracting parties were Miss Cordie Minsker, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Minsker, and Mr. Roy Reed, also the youngest member of the family to which he belongs. The officiating minister was Rev. Barden, the Baptist minister at Eagleville. The bride is a model young lady, the possessor in an unusual degree of every practical feminine accomplishment and of many that are included among the elegant accomplishments. The fortunate bridegroom is spoken of in the highest terms as an industrious, capable young gentleman. The happy couple went on the 5.20 p. m. train to Curwensville, where their future homes will be and where we hope they will be blessed with much happiness and prosperity.

—Mr. Guyer Mattern, of Benore, who will be one of the gentlemen to go to Harrisburg to represent this county, when the Legisiature meets, transacted business in Bellefonte on Friday. Mr. Mattern is a young gentleman who has, apparently, a peculiarly bright future. He is quite young—certainly, we would imagine, not more than 28 years old. He looks like a man of the soundest good sense, and we don't believe that any good fortune that may happen to him will spoil him. Sometimes we hesitate to send a man to such an institution as the legislature, because we know the evil influences which are apt to contaminate those whose characters are not formed. But a single glance at Mr. Mattern's frank, open countenance, quick movements and bright attractive face, is enough to convince the most sceptical that he will be, under all circumstances, an exemplification of all that is manly, honest and honorable.

Forepaugh's Latest Effort

Appropos of the visit here, on Tuesday, October 12, of the popular and widely known exhibition of Adam Forepaugh, the Boston Journal, of June 15th, whose statements are ever accepted as literal plain truth, makes the following glowing and merited criticism:

"What a commingling of memories and anticipations for old and young, of the pleasant and pensive blending, of long-worn merry-making, and yet ever freshening merriment is wrought in the exclamation of boyhood—"The circus has come!" To those of a generation just lapsing it brings up the reminiscence of stolen sweets in the days of ardent juvenility, the pirouetting ponies, the colossal trained trained elephants, and all the attendant elements down to the diaphanous pop-corn and the lemonade "with a flavor of sadness in it." After all there is much of a charm in the ever recurring circus enjoyment of which the endless ring itself is a fitting symbol; and even with those matured persons who may have fancied that their enjoyment was necessarily a thing of the past, the advent of a show so consummately equipped as that of Adam Forepaugh, which opened at the Union Base Ball Grounds yesterday, reveals that rescources are perennial. It must be allowed that the circus of to-day is richer and rounder than that of the past, having much of added attractions in the abundance of material and the novelties in modern invention. The audience that filled the great circus tent last evening was a remarkably large one, notwithstanding the menacing weather, and at the very opening of the enjoyment, all had occasion to appreciate the improved facilities for seating them promptly. The exhibition of animals in the tent where the visitors entered the great canvass auditorium was very large and interesting. The two rings, supplemented by the raised platform, were kept constantly in requisition. Among the most striking features were the rifle shooting by the Bogardus family, performing ponies, the boxing elephant and the high-wire bycicle. Perhaps the most remarkable instance of training, combined with animal instinct was seen in the performance of Blondon Horse on a tightrope. The programme comprised some eighty acts in all, and was heartily applauded, especially the riding of Miss Carroll Miss Belmont, Sam Watson and William Showles. A spirited ending was given to the performances by the hippodrome races. As a whole there is prospect that this circus will be voted by those who attend, one of the best that ever came.

—The ninth annual convention of the State Millers' Association was held in Harrisburg on Tuesday, the 7th. The following officers were re-elected: President, B. F. Isenburg, of Huntingdon; Vice President, Jacob Walter of Easton Second Vice President, Cyrus Hoffa, of Lewistown; Secretary and Treasurer, Landis, Levan, of Lancaster. About 70 members were present. Considerable time was spent in the discussion of a proposition to organize a millers' insurance company on the mutual plan. A committee was appointed to look after the details of the organization. The next convention will be held at Cresson. At the conclusion of the convention the members started on an excursion to Minneapolis.

—Thursday we feasted our eyes on Dr. A. Hibler's well kept garden, which is chiefly remarkable for the number and quality of its fruit-bearing trees and vines. The most pleasing sight was a pear tree bearing one huge pear which is not yet fully matured, although already of enormous size and great beauty. His grapes are maturing beautifully and are large and lovely. The Doctor gave us a bunch of Salem grapes and also another of an equally excellent kind, the name of which we forget. The large pear has a very high-sounding name—something like souvenir de conquest.

—The events of a very busy week crowded out until to-day any special reference to the cave party of Tuesday, the 7th. The young people who composed the party were Miss Hughes and Hoover, of Philipsburg; Misses Stella Armor, Maggie Sechler, Jennie Crittenden, Katie Bullock and Henrietta Butts of Bellefonte; Messrs. Harry Jenkins, George Meek, Jerome Harper, John Bauer, Will Brew, Walter Lembkey and George Bayard, of this place, and John Fryberger, of Philipsburg. They had a very pleasant time.

—The funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Livingston occurred on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The was a large attendance. There services were brief, but very impressive. Addresses were made by Revs. William Laurie, of Bellefonte, and W. O. Wright, of Milesburg. Rev. Joseph H. Barnard, of Madison, Ind., made the concluding prayer and pronounced the benediction.

—The distillers and brewers of Indiana county have been selling liquor by the gallon in kegs or casks. Judge White told the grand jury to return all persons known to be engaged in this trade, although such persons claim that the act of March, 1866, gives them the right to do so. The important question seems to be: "Is the gallon keg a cask?" the aforesaid act giving them the right to sell in casks.

—Hope Hose company, of Lock Haven, have selected the Citizens Cornet Band, of Milesburg, to accompany them to Altoona on the 22d and 23d inst. The Milesburg Band has no superior among the numerous good bands in this county, and, so far as music is concerned, Hope hose will be very fortunate.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Lousia Pike, Bartonia, Randolf Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and began buying it of me. In six month's time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it."

—Will Gray, Esq., has a neatly framed picture of the class in which he graduated at Albany Law School. It includes the Faculty of the school and about forty students. Will was one of the four orators in his class and he occupies quite a conspicuous position in the picture.

I Have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for the last five years. About three years ago I commenced the use of Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh I have used, and it has accomplished a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of catarrh and restored my sense of smell. For cold in head it works like magic.—E. H. Sherwood, Banker, Elizabeth, N. J.

—Mr. Joseph Aucremam, the gentleman whom Dr. Hoy had placed in a Philadelphia hospital for fracture of the patella some time ago, is home again with perfect use of the injured limb—a fact that will cause the many friends of Mr. Aucremam to rejoice.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a billious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by J. ZELLER & SON.

—The Lemont train was somewhat unfortunate on Friday and was twice detained an hour or so by comparatively unimportant accidents. In the morning the eccentric rod of the locomotive was broken and in the evening a car left the track.

It is estimated that there are one hundred thousand sufferers from hay fever in the United States; a number about four times greater than the regular standing army. This number could be reduced to a mere regiment if all would resort to Ely's Cream Balm.

—Some of the excursionists to Lewisburg delayed their return until the late train Friday evening. Among the late arrivals home were H. B. Pontius George Johnston, Oscar Wetzel and others, including a few citizens from Pleasant Gap.

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every house-owner, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money. RENNER MANUFACTURING CO., 116 Smithfield St., Pittsburg, Pa. 18 11 1y

THE NARROW ESCAPE

Of a Massachusetts Engineer.

Sleep after fatigue and health after disease are two of the sweetest experiences known to me. Fourteen years is a long time to suffer, yet Mr. Peter Lawler, of Dalton, Mass., has led a miserable life for that period through the presence of stone in the bladder. He did obtain temporary relief, but nothing more. Last January he called on Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who said, after an examination: "Mr. Lawler, you have stone in the bladder. We will first try DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY before risking an operation." A few days later the following letter

DALTON, Mass., [illegible]

DEAR DR. KENNEDY: The day after I came home I passed two gravel stones, and am doing nicely now. PETER LAWLER.

Dr. Kennedy now has the stones at his office, and they are sufficient to formidable to justify the claim that KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY is the leading specific for stone in the bladder. In his letter Mr. Lawler mentions that FAVORITE REMEDY also cured him of rheumatism. The subjoined certificate tells its own story:

OLD BERKSHIRE MILLS,
DALTON, Mass., April 27, 1882.

Mr. Peter Lawler has been a resident of this town for the past seventeen years, and in our employ for fifteen, and in all these years he has been a good and respected citizen of this town and community. He has had some chronic disease to our knowledge for most of the time, but now claims to be, and is, in apparent good health.

CHARLES O. BROWN, President.

$1 bottle; 6 for $5. All druggists.

Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" (Rondout, N. Y.)—It is not a mere soother, temporarily, of pain, but by its alterative action purifies the blood, restores a healthful condition to the disease organs, and even dissolves and causes the expulsion of gravel and stone from the kidneys and bladder. The testimony of hundreds who have been cured by it vouches for this.

Rogers' Grapoline!

This preparation is a mild and gentle saline cathartic, alterative and tonic. It is most carefully prepared in the form of a snow white powder, containing all the medical properties of the GRAPE and other fruits. It will promptly cure Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Heartburn Sick Headache, Indigestion and all Inflammatory complaints where a gentle, cooling cathartic is required. Give this remedy one trial and it will convince you of the above facts. Prepared by A. H. ROGERS & CO., Geneseo, N. Y.

Local Department.

—The borough schools began Tuesday morning.

—Peaches continue very scarce and expensive.

—Hunt up your winter stove and your light weight overcoat.

—Soldiers' encampment in Huntingdon on Monday, the 20th.

—The principal diet in Bellefonte just now seems to be peanuts.

—The organization of Beaver clubs in all parts of this county is proceeding quite rapidly.

—The air was decidedly cool Monday morning, although we did not observe any traces of frost.

—Almost every community is raising large amounts of money for Charleston. Bellefonte has not yet been heard from.

—Mr. Yeager is making very rapid progress on the new school building, the foundation walls being almost completed.

—See the new announcement made by Jacobs Bros.' the bakers and confectioners on Bishop street. It is of importance to all.

—A special meeting of the Logan Hose Company was held on Wednesday evening. It was an important meeting.

—Monday was said to be a good day for squirrel hunting. Almost every man who possesses a gun went to the woods that morning.

—Walter Bayard says that drugs sold rapidly on Monday, which seems to indicate that his goods are not a drug on the market.

—William Reibson, of Williamsport, and Daniel J. Brobst, of Sullivan county, have been arrested on the charge of counterfeiting.

—George Grossman, a brakeman on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, was killed by the cars in Williamsport, Saturday evening.

—We were told by at least one weather wise individual that it will not rain today. This will be good news to the Grangers and their friends.

—The ladies of the Presbyterian Mite Society will hold a festival, at which they will have a fancy table, on the evening of Thursday, September 23.

—Jack Schuyler, the very widely known proprieter of the Fallon House, Lock Haven, returned home Friday evening, after spending seven weeks in the far West.

—The miners of the Clearfield region will hold a convention in Philipsburg on the 18th inst., for the purpose of drawing up a uniform scale and transacting other business.

—There will be a Good Templar convention in Lock Haven on Thursday and Friday of this week. It will include representatives from Centre, Clinton and Lycoming counties.

—No one can vote in November next who has not paid a State or county tax between November 4, 1884, and October 2, 1886, except in case of voters between 21 and 22 years of age.

—Dr. Dorworth and John C. Miller have been elected delegates to the I. O. G. T. convention in Lock Haven on Thursday. Mrs. W. T. Twitmire and Mrs. Hutchinson are alternates.

—Thirty coal cars were totally demolished, entailing a loss of $10,000 by a wreck on Saturday afternoon at Bowman's station on the Lehigh Valley road, caused by the breaking of an axle.

—A lively Republican meeting was held on Tuesday evening at Marsh Creek, Jno. G. Love, Esq., being one of the orators. About forty persons signed the roll of a club which was organized.

—Harry Baney, of Philipsburg, who has been in Bellefonte several days, had unusually good luck while hunting, last week. He not only shot several squirrels, but also killed a huge black snake.

—Dr. W. H. Winslow, of Pittsburg, a celebrated oculist, will be at the Brockerhoff House in this place during next month. There are many people in Bellefonte who have been benefited by his treatment.

—Times must be pretty prosperous out in Snow Shoe. Mr. T. B. Buddinger reports that his business keeps him employed all the time and he can't give his attention to other things. That's very good news.

—An 11 year old girl named Annie Renner, daughter of Mrs. Annie Renner, of Altoona, was burned to death on Saturday in that city. Her clothes caught from a bonfire near which she was playing.

—The death of 'Squire John Cole, of Coleville, occurred Wednesday at 6.30 o'clock. The announcement of his death will be a surprise and shock to many people. He had been in his usual health until about three days ago, when he had an attack of what seemed like dysentery, which terminated in his death at the time mentioned. 'Squire Cole leaves a wife and a family of three or four children. Mr. Robert Cole, of the Phœnix planing mill, is his son.

Sunday in the Churches.

In the Episcopal church, on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Davis, of New York State, officiated, in a very acceptable manner. His sermon, in the morning, was delivered without reference to manuscript or notes, merely reading his text from St. Mark 8:22-25, it being the narrative relating to the restoration of sight to the blind man.

The first part of the sermon related to the nature of the miracle. It is the only instance narrated wherein the operation of cure was gradual. Some of the miracles of healing the blind were when the person had always been blind and others where blindness had come as an affliction. The latter class were in the worse condition and to it this man belonged as shown by his exclamation, "I see men as trees walking!" Just here the minister said that in the world some men have always been blind to all spiritual things and with others blindness has come after they have once seen. The latter are in the most perilous situation. There are honest sceptics and others are sceptical merely because of indifference to the truth. To the former the minister always says that if they are sincere in quirers after truth it will be revealed to them.

Here followed several very touching and pathetic references to the text. The Saviour led the blind man "out of the town" to perform the miracle. So often, to work our conversion, we must be led away from our present surroundings. Then the "touching" of the Saviour was compared to the afflictions which sometimes visit good people for their chastisement and correction. The gradual operation of the miracle was likened to conversion. Saints are not made at once. Where there is one instantaneous revelation of spiritual light like that to Paul, there are ten thousand who, like St. Peter, must grow in grace.

PROPER AND IMPROPER AMUSEMENTS.

The greatest evidence we have noticed of the continued interest in the series of sermons, the concluding one of which was delivered Sunday evening by Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D., in the Methodist church, was the large congregation which gathered to hear it, many people being kept home from church by the threatening weather. The large church was comfortably full, the usual proportion of members of other churches being present. On the subject of "Amusements" he quoted for a text Ecclesiastes 11:9, "Rejoice, O young man in thy youth, and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes; but know that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment."

This is one of the texts which are often misinterpreted. Objectors to the Bible more frequently object to the interpretation placed upon Scripture than to the Bible itself. This text does not condemn all amusements. The proper pleasures of life are necessary for our social life and for recreation from regular work. This fact was recognized by the Creator in the appointment of the Sabbath. The speaker appealed to reason and not to prejudice. He offered strong objections to card playing, to dice throwing, to the theatre and to the dance. To the first-mentioned perhaps his strongest objection was that it teaches us to trust in chance, rather than in honesty and industry. For this reason to many good people the red spots on the cards represent blood and the black spots, sin. He quoted an art critic, a writer on moral questions and a former actor in condemnation of the drama. The dance, he said, was condemned by all civilized nations. He quoted from Cicero, from Greek history and from the testimony of its votaries in the present day for proof. He made the confession that he had been a dancer and knew all about it, and in this could speak from experience. We could tell by the expression on many countenances that the sharp thrusts often reached an accusing conscience, which we hope will show profit in their future lives.

A Political Trade in Progress.

The Lock Haven Express, on Saturday, imparted some important political information to its readers. It is of equal interest in this part of the Senatorial district. The article in the Express is as follows:

There is blood on the Democratic Senatorial moon in the 34th district and the name of T. C. Hipple, Esq., of this city, has been erased from the slate and P. Gray Meek, the editor of the Bellefonte Watchman, substituted. Ex-Governor Curtin is on the war-path and is dead set against the Lock Haven Democratic bosses. He claims that it costs too much for "harmony" in Clinton county. The friends of Curtin in Centre and the Wallace people in Clearfield have formed a combination whereby Mr. Hipple is to be defeated for the Senatorial nomination. Curtin is to give Wallace the Centre county conferees in exchange for Clearfield's support for Meek for Senator which will nominate the latter. Dr. Potter, a congressional aspirant, in Clearfield, has withdrawn in favor of Senator Wallace, thus carrying out the first part of the programme to defeat Hipple and the Lock Haven bosses.

Mr. Hipple and several of the prominent leaders of the Clinton Democracy held a consultation with Ex-Governor Curtin at the Fallon House this morning and some plain words were inter-changed during the interview. Mr. Hipple and his friends are endeavoring to break the combination, but thus far have met with poor success if report is correct. While the latter are much exercised at the present aspect of affairs Mr. S. Woods Caldwell's face is covered with a broad smile. It appears that the "harmony" of the Clinton county Democracy is spreading throughout the whole Senatorial district.

Death of a Former Resident of Centre County.

At McPherson, Kan., Sept. 3, Mary Ellen, wife of John B. Hutchison, in her 44th year. The deceased was the daughter of J. G. and Jane Carson and was born in Potter township, this county, in 1842. She was married in 1863 and removed to Carroll county, Ill., and from there to Douglas county, Kan., in 1869. Later she removed to Johnson Co., Kan., and in 1879 to McPherson, where she continued to reside until her death. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss. Her death was sudden and her physician attributed it to her delicate condition, the result of an accident she sustained about one year ago, having been thrown from her carriage, the horses taking fright at an engine standing near the railroad crossing over which they attempted to pass. She was thrown to the ground and picked up in an unconscious condition. As she was large and heavy she fell with great force and sustained so great a shock that she never recovered her health. Mrs. Hutchison was a member of the Presbyterian church and being possessed of more than ordinary intelligence she was an influential member not only of religious, but social circles and was an untiring worker, for the promotion of the church of her choice. She was buried at McPherson. County papers please copy.

It is Whispered—

That it is about time for another wedding. Won't some one volunteer to get married?

That when the Bellefonte Iron Company's furnace is put in operation all the houses, now vacant, will be occupied.

That the schools will be greatly crowded this year and it is a pity that the school house could not have been finished in time for use.

That the school children looked very bright and happy when they started to school this morning. The lessons are not learned so easily at first, but in a few days school duties will become natural again.

That it is to be regretted that the time is near for the girls to change their pretty white dresses for those of dark colors. A girl never looks so near like an angel as when she is dressed in white.

That it is a bad cold, and nothing else that afflicts the eye of the Western Union operator.

That numerous very emphatic expressions uttered in a low tone are heard these mornings as the stove pipe is being put up. Of course, the pieces which fitted perfectly last Spring won't go together this fall.

New Paper at Centre Hall.

The new paper, the Centre County Times, was issued from the office in the Van Pelt building at Centre Hall Wednesday. This paper is started in the interest of the Mingle faction of the Democratic party, and is expected to do good work in disposing of the ring bosses against which the Democrats are rebelling.

Centre Hall is a town of only four or five hundred population, and is rather a small place to contain two newspapers. Mr. Ulrich is the name of the editor of the new paper and he expects to make it decidedly lively for the Democracy of that section.

Milesburg Beaver Club.

A successful and very promising organization of the Milesburg Beaver Club was effected Monday evening, the following officers being elected:

President, O. E. Miles.

Vice President, John Walters and Jno. Thomas.

Secretary, P. H. Haupt.

Assistant Secretary, J. A. Rogers.

The club held its first regular meeting on Wednesday evening at 7.30 p. m. on which occasion Jno. G. Love and C. P. Hewes, Esqs., were present to speak.

—The latest business enterprise that we have heard of is a new banking company to be organized for the purpose of conducting the banking business in Bellefonte. Members of the company will be Edmund Blanchard, Mr. Jamison, of Philadelphia, and other gentlemen connected with the Bellefonte Iron Company. We have heard Hon. James P. Coburn, the Republican candidate for Congress in this county, mentioned as the cashier of the new institution. We wish it success.

—The Methodist church of this place is better supplied with hymn books than many of the other churches. This is a most excellent feature and induces persons in the congregation to unite in singing that would not otherwise do so. Now, here is a pertinent question: If a church which does not place near so much importance on the mere liturgical part of its worship as other churches do is so well supplied with service books, should not churches which conduct at least half their worship from a book be even better supplied? We think an affirmative answer must be given.

—It is said that the Philadelphia Record fell into an error in the comments it recently made on the marriage of Mr. Benjamin T. Lang and Miss Ella Clabaugh, both of Altoona. The wedding was solemnized on the 16th of August as part of the opening exercises of the Soldiers' Orphan "Sixteeners" convention in that city. The Record intimated that as the marriage was not performed in the county where the license was procured, it did not comply with the conditions of the law. But an examination of the law made by legal gentlemen in Altoona is, according to the Times of that city, to the effect that the marriage may be performed anywhere in the State, the requirement being that the license must be granted in the county where the contracting parties reside.

—This is the season of the year when more than the usual amount of interest is felt in the game and fish laws. For the benefit of the sportsman we publish the following: Turkeys, October 15th to January 1st. Ducks, September 1st to May 1st. Plover, July 15th to January 1st. Woodcock, July 4th to January 1st. Patridges or quail, October 15th to January 1st. Rail and reed birds, September 1st to December 1st. Elk anb deer, October 1st to December 15th. Squirrels, September 1st to January 1st. Hares and rabbits, November 1st to January 1st. Salmon or speckled trout, April 15th to July 15th. Lake trout, October to January 1st. Black bass, pike and pickerel, June 1st to January 1st. Penalties for infringements, $5 to $50.

—Light your houses at night. Some of the Bellefonte streets are exceedingly gloomy in appearance at night because a distance can be traveled without coming to one home which is illuminated in a way to render it cheerful within and also to dispense some of its cheerfulness to the street without. People close outside blinds too tightly as soon as the evening hour arrives, and too many people seem to live all the time in the rear part of their houses with a large, handsomely furnished room in front which is too nice for the family to enter. It makes the people appear selfish and detracts from the attractive appearance of the street. Let your light shine.

—It is a fact that whoever has tried the DAILY NEWS as an advertising medium was pleased with the result. Sometimes the news which appears in the paper goes over the country at a rate which astonishes even its reporter. Only an hour after the paper appears, telephone messages will come relating to some occurrence just mentioned in the paper and when inquiry is made as to how the person first heard of it the answer will be, "I saw it in the DAILY NEWS." Gentlemen traveling in the country relate that notwithstanding what pretentious papers they may have in their pockets, the people take the DAILY NEWS first of all.

—The picnic at Penn Cave on Saturday was not quite so large as it was expected to be, although there were representatives from all the surrounding towns and a few from Bellefonte. The Rebersburg and Millheim bands were present and the music inside the cave sounded charmingly, although the agitation of the waves which it caused frightened the ladies so that they were at first afraid to enter the cave. They all went in, however, enjoyed the interior spectacle, and no accident marred the day's pleasure.

—The "Lilly Clay Opera Troupe" performed to a full house on Saturday evening. There was good order and decorum in the audience and on the stage. There was an effort made in the afternoon to stop the performance on the supposition that it was not chaste enough to present to a Bellefonte audience. Those present discovered, however, that there was nothing in the opera of "Adamless Eden" that one, who does not consider any of the popular comic operas immoral, could condemn. The costumes were elegant and complete.

Litigation Over a Steel Process.

The litigation pending for the last six years between Jacob Reese, of Pittsburg, the inventor of the basic steel process, and the Bessemer steel company, limited, which has prevented the use of the basic steel process in the United States, owing to an injunction obtained by the Bessemer steel company, has been decided by the master, who reports that the injunction be dissolved and the bill dismissed at the cost of the Bessemer steel company.

—Bellefonte has buildings well designed for a car manufactory, standing idle, while the Pennsylvania Railroad and perhaps other railroads cannot procure cars fast enough. Why does not the Pennsylvania Railroad Company or some other parties with capital resume the manufacture of cars here? So far as we are aware, the works, while in operation, were always profitable. Proper management is all that is required.

—The coffee provided for the I. O. G. T. entertainment, Tuesday evening, is said to have been delicious. It was made by Mrs. Daniel Rhoads. If everybody could make coffee as good as this there would be more of it used as people would not be able to get enough to satisfy them.

—The moon was full on Monday.

Personal Pencilings.

Miss Kate Osmer, of this place, is visiting her relatives in Huntingdon.

Ex-Governor Curtin spent a few hours among the people of Tyrone, Monday.

Miss Amanda Tome, of Jersey Shore, is a guest at the home of D. G. Bush, Esq.

Mr. and Mrs E. M. Valentine, of Philadelphia, are visiting relatives in this place.

Miss Sue Jack, of Boalsburg, has been spending several days with friends in town.

Miss Lily Bursell, a young lady from Danville, Pa., is a guest at the home of J. W. Gephart, Esq.

Miss Theresa Weaver, of Philadelphia, is a guest at the home of Mrs. Philip Gross, in this place.

Mrs. J. H. Linck, of Williamsport, is the guest of her friend, Mrs. J. A. Woodcock, on Linn street.

Mrs. Hirsh and Miss Rosa Hirsh, of Lancaster, are guests at Mr. Isaac Guggenheimer's residence.

Rev. J. H. Orbison expects to sail about the 1st of October for India to begin his missionary work.

Mr. Solomon Fisher and wife and Miss Fisher, all of Rockgrove, Ill., are visiting friends in this county.

Miss Melick, Miss Burrows and Mr. Ed. Ball, of Lock Haven, were among the arrivals in town on Friday evening.

Harry Baney, of Philipsburg, came to town Wednesday evening to find out how his Bellefonte friends are prospering.

Rev. S. A. Taggart, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., arrived unexpectedly in Bellefonte on Thursday, remaining until next morning.

S. Rush and William Guyer, two members of Tyrone's rifle club, are hunting in the vicinity of Hannah, this county, and are killing game pretty lively.

Capt. W. C. Van Valin, one of the very best citizens of Unionville, pleased us with a call, Saturday a. m., although the departure of his train made his call entirely too brief.

Prof. A. Bierly, of New York, expects to spend part of the Fall in Millheim, giving musical instruction. As a teacher he has remarkable ability and Bellefonte should have kept him here.

Miss Lily Barrett, after having been confined to the house for several weeks with a sprained ankle, is again able to be out, although the injured member is not yet restored to its ordinary strength.

Mr. Will Furst, son of Judge A. O. Furst, bade farewell to his Bellefonte friends Friday morning and departed for Princeton College. Will is a bright young man and we expect to hear good reports from him.

Miss Grace Furey, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Furey, of the Altoona Sunday Morning, visited relatives in Lemont, this county, last week. She spent Sunday in Tyrone, going to her home in Altoona on Monday.

Mr. Al. Garman, proprietor of the Garman House, came home from Williamsport on Friday evening. He has been making that city his headquarters while he spent most of the time with friends hunting in the vicinity of Williamsport.

Mr. R. A. Beck, the popular barber, is entertaining his brother, from Philadelphia. Tuesday they were visiting the famous Penn Cave. We have not met our good citizen's brother, but if he is like R. A. he is a first-class gentleman and we hope he will enjoy himself.

William M. Potter, who is a special examiner of the United States Pension office at Washinton, D. C., is attending to official business in this place. The case more particularly requiring his attention at this time is that of Mr. Chas. A. Glenn, one of centre county's well known photographers.

Mr. B. J. Furey, of Pleasant Gap, brother of Prof. Milton Furey, of this place, started to Minneapolis, Minn., on Monday, to accept a situation in connection with an engineers' corps in that city. Mr. Samuel Dawson, of this place, accompanied Mr. Furey. He goes to see the country and perhaps will remain in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kinsloe, of Osceola, have been visiting at their former home in Hughesville, Lycoming county. On Friday they were in Bellefonte, on their way home. We are glad to learn that Mr. Kinsloe is successful, not only with the Osceola Reveille, but also with another paper at Houtzdale, of which he has assumed charge.

General James S. Brisbin, of the United States Regular Army, is in Bellefonte with his son Winfield Brisbin. Gen. Brisbin is a son-in-law of Mrs. Wagner, widow of the late David Wagner, and a brother-in-law of Mrs. Holliday. He always makes Bellefonte his headquarters in the East, when he has a respite from active duties. While a military man in the highest sense, he has also engaged in literary work with ability, some of the most valuable articles on the West, war reminiscences and about military men having emanated from his pen, inspired by his retentive memory, bright thought and fertile flow of language. He will leave Winfield at the State College to pursue his studies, which is in many respects a compliment to the literary and military thoroughness of the curriculum of that institution.

Personal Pencilings.

Rev. J. A. Woodcock rode to Centre Hall, on business, Wednesday morning.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Clevan Dinges, of Centre Hall, while that gentleman was in town Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shuey have returned from their wedding tour, and the agreeable young bridegroom is at work in his store as usual.

Miss Lily Aikens, the lovely and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Aikens, departed Wednesday for Birmingham, where she will resume her school duties.

Miss Jennie Tallhelm, of Hollidaysburg, spent last Wednesday in Bellefonte with her friend, Miss Florence Jacobs, of Lamb street. Miss Lizzie Bible, sister of Editor George Bible, also spent the day with Miss Jacobs and Miss Tallhelm.

Tuesday morning the town of Centre Hall lost, at least for a while, an important part of its fair population, five charming young ladies going to Lutherville, Maryland, to school. They are: Miss Rhone, daughter of Leonard Rhone, Esq.; Miss Sankey, daughter of Henry Sankey; Miss Smith, daughter of Isaac P. Smith; Miss Mingle, daughter of Wm. B. Mingle; and Miss Boal daughter of George M. Boal. Two of them, Misses Boal and Sankey, have attended the seminary in former years.

—Mr. C. W. Hunter writes as follows from Stormstown, his letter being dated Wednesday, Sept. 15: "Mr. Isaac Way, a much respected citizen of Half Moon township, living about one and a half miles from Stormstown, was found dead in his horse entry yesterday at noon. His son, William R., farms the place and the old gentleman had walked out from the house at 11 o'clock, and when the men came in from the fields they found him dead with his arms folded and on his knees and the side of his face. He appears to have been sitting on a box with his arms folded, and pitched forward, never struggling in the least. There was a slight bruise on one cheek. He was about 78 years old. He will be buried on Thursday in the Friends' graveyard."

—We regret to state that Anson Gordon, of this place, was seriously hurt on Tuesday afternoon while riding on a hand car on the railroad. He stepped on a board in the car which broke beneath his weight and he was precipitated to the track in front of the car, the car passing over his right leg, mutilating it terribly. His head was injured by striking some hard object in falling, and he is also hurt internally. He vomited considerable blood. Dr. H. K. Hoy was called to attend him. The Doctor believes that no bones are broken, but considers Anson's condition quite serious.

—Harry Henry, who has been clerking in Valentines' store for a year past, expects to depart next Thursday evening for Lock Haven, to remain a few days. About the 25th inst. he will go to Jacksonville, Florida, to accept a clerkship in the store of T. F. McNerney in that city. In his new situation he will be the head clerk in a store employing six or seven clerks, which will make the situation a pleasant and profitable one for him. He is an excellent young gentleman and we expect him to be successful in his new position.

—The Baptist church at Eagleville has been enlarged and improved in handsome style and dedicatory services were held on Sunday. Sufficient money was raised during the day to pay off the entire indebtedness and the renewed edifice was dedicated with no encumbrance of that sort to impede its future usefulness. Rev. F. L. Bardens is the pastor of the church and to his efforts the present condition of prosperity of the congregation is largely due.

—The 5.20 p. m. train was an hour late Monday evening. The delay, it is said, was caused by the trains becoming somewhat mixed up, the passenger train waiting until the freight train could be switched on a side track. That was better than for the passenger train to attempt to go right through or over the freight train, as it sometimes does.

—The Good Templar Lodge is a very large organization and does a wonderful amount of temperance work, in its own way. All the members of the Bellefonte Lodge were happy Tuesday evening when they welcomed their sisters and brethren from Centre Hall. It is of great advantage to be a Good Templar just at this time.

—Some of the real good moral base ballists are congratulating themselves because the recent sermon on amusements did not condemn their favorite game, and the checker players are also correspondingly happy for a similar reason.

—A. A. Dale, Esq., and Judge Furst did not have much success in their hunting expedition on Saturday. But Al. has a gun with which he expects to slay nobler game than squirrels. Just wait until he goes in pursuit of the deer.

—The first train of cars will be run on the Buffalo Run Railroad on the first of October, and regularly thereafter. Large shipments of iron ore will be made over the road to Johnstown, Pittsburg and other manufacturing cities.
